Rationing, Price Control Taken Off Butter Moslems Vote For Separation; Opponents Riot

Jams, Jellies, All Other Dairy Products Freed

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Moslem League tonight voted to make Moslem India a new nation during a tumultuous session in which police turned tear gas on League opponents who broke into the meeting.

The League council voted almost unanimously to accept the independence plan under which Moslem areas will be permitted to establish an independent state of Pakistan if desired after a preliminary period as a British dominion.

Within five minutes of the vote, four Khaksars from a band of Moslems opposed to the Moslem League, broke into the session in the Imperial Hotel.

Minutes later, after police had broken up the melee, a wounded man was hauled screaming from the assembly hall.

Several league guardsmen who acted as traffic patrolmen were cut and wounded. One said he was stabbed in the face by a Khaksar, one of a group who had noisily demonstrated in front of the hotel during the meeting in opposition to acceptance of Pakistan.

Guardsmen surrounded M. A. Jinnah, league president, and said the knife-wielding Khaksars had not harmed him.

More than 300 members of the council were in the room when the assailants burst in, pursued by a dozen policemen firing tear gas.

Jinnah, spoke at length on the plan and answered scores of questions.

He became irritated when he entered the hotel and was greeted by shouts of supporters: "Long live the Emperor of Pakistan."

"Don't say that to me," Jinnah snapped.

Criticism of Pakistan and the British partition plan came from Moslem League representatives of provinces having Hindu majorities. These speakers contended the independence plan provided no safeguards for Moslem minorities.

Representatives from the large states of Bengal and the Punjab, both of which would be divided, were said to have opposed the plan.

The All-India Congress party, largely Hindu, will meet here Saturday and is expected to approve the plan. Both states would become Dominions of the British Commonwealth temporarily while deciding their future.

Khaksars, members of an anti-league Moslem organization, rushed into the grounds wearing Arab costume with horsehair collars around their heads and yelling slogans. They skirmished with green-coated league guards and with police, and 60 of them finally were hauled off in police vans.

The Khaksar slogans denounced the league for its part in framing a plan that would cut down the territory in Pakistan (Moslem India), originally demanded by the Moslems.

The Hindu-dominated All-India Congress Committee is generally expected to favor the Pakistan-Hindustan proposal when it meets in Delhi Saturday.

Reporters talking to them quickly got the impression they accepted an abbreviated Pakistan only as a temporary arrangement and expected eventually to occupy perhaps much more territory.

Nanaimo Strike Gives First Test To New B.C. Law

NANAIMO (CP)—First test of British Columbia's new labor law which outlaws strikes without a government-supervised vote opened here today when 28 workers of the Imperial Laundry Company called a strike in protest against discharge of two girl employees.

"We regard it as an illegal strike," said G. H. Osborne, plant superintendent. "They walked out without going to conciliation as required by law."

The strike forced the plant to close, leaving 12 non-strikers without employment.

"The employers provoked this strike by the unfair dismissal of an employee," said Daniel O'Brien, regional director, Canadian Congress of Labor.

The strikers are members of the Laundry Workers' Union, Local 1 (C.C.L.).

One of the discharged girls attended a convention of the B.C. Federation of Labor in Vancouver after laundry officials had protested the plant was short-handed. The other was absent because of domestic reasons.

"Action was necessary," said John Cook, company manager, "because of flagrant absenteeism."

The new Industrial Arbitration and Conciliation Act, passed at the last session of the Legislature, provides penalties in the form of fines against unions violating its terms.

Land Yard officials expressed interest in a report from Genoa, Italy, that a man there professing to belong to the so-called Stern Gang, Jewish underground group, had said he mailed the genuine bombs.

These loaded letters, none of which did any harm, were postmarked Turin, Italy. Prime Minister Attlee, Foreign Secretary Bevin and their respective predecessors, Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden were among the reported targets.

Scotland Yard officials said they planned a routine check of the Genoa report.

TERRORIST IN CUSTODY
DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuter)—A Jewish terrorist captured in Arab clothes near the Syrian-Palestine border refused after several hours of questioning to day to give names or particulars of 17 other Jews with whom he was reported to have crossed the frontier.

The man, reported to be a member of the terrorist Stern Gang, claimed earlier that he was one of a number of Jews escaped in the jail break from Acre prison last month and that he and the other Jews were on their way to seek refuge in Iraq.

A Blimp's-Eye View Of Victoria

Times cameraman Strickland floated over Victoria Saturday afternoon in the Goodyear blimp Volunteer and among the pictures he took was the one above, over the intersection of Belleville and Douglas Streets. In the left foreground is the Empress Hotel and its expansive grounds and to the right is the Crystal Garden, with bowlers on the green. The picture also shows Government Street at the left extending to the Fountain, where it joins Douglas, Blanshard Street is at the right and in the distance is Mount Douglas. For other pictures of Victoria from the Volunteer and a story by Allan Jenkins on what it is like to fly in the blimp, see page 7.

With Railways Idle, France Plagued By Strike Of Public Utility Workers

PARIS (AP)—Plagued by a country-wide railroad strike, France today was threatened by another serious labor situation as public utility workers walked off the job in several plants near the capital.

Gas and electricity plant workers struck at St. Etienne and Montlucon, and some Paris suburbs were expected to be without gas this afternoon. The workers acted several hours before the government was to inform their union of what concessions it was willing to grant.

Whispers of a strike on the Paris Metro (subway) also were heard. Such a stoppage, at the same time as the railway strike, would paralyze the capital. A 24-hour token strike for higher wages has been called for Friday by the Public Service Federation, of which the subway workers' union is a part.

A full government council session was called to meet Socialist President Vincent Auriol today to canvass the situation, which has increased in seriousness since the National Railroad Workers' Federation called the railway strike early Friday for higher pay and reclassification of jobs.

Union leaders Sunday night said they were always disposed to negotiate and hoped "this appeal will be heard." Ramadier remained silent.

The transportation ministry, in charge of the government-owned railroads, planned to broaden substitute transport services today Sunday. Long-distance bus service was to be tripled and more extra flights were to be added by Air France, government line.

Industry waited to see how the strike, which spread throughout the country over the week-end, would cut factory forces. The capital itself has some 680,000 commuters.

Railroaders still moved foods, but in some places local strike committees stopped freight trains to question crews.

Ramadier, who last month formed a new cabinet without Communists, and other Socialists have accused the Communist Party of trying to exert pressure on French foreign policy through domination of labor.

In speeches Sunday night, Jacques Duclos, Communist secretary, termed the Premier "stubborn" and said only those who would sell France out to "international trusts" were against a strike settlement. He called for "a union of the working class... to lead France back to the left."

The transportation ministry, in charge of the government-owned

ATTEMPT BY ARBITRATOR

Premier Paul Ramadier averted a threatened country-wide 24-hour utility plant strike 10 days ago by ordering requisition of the workers. Agreement was reached for an arbitrator, Paul Grunbaum-Ballin. To work out an accord. The deadline was last midnight.

Grunbaum-Ballin was expected to report to the union

Canada To Import 5,000 From Europe's D.P. Camps

OTTAWA (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Howe announced this afternoon in the Commons the passage of an order-in-council for the immediate admission to Canada of 5,000 persons from European displaced persons camps. He said priority would be given to single persons and those capable of being readily absorbed into Canada's industrial life.

At the same time, he announced the government hoped to convert to the carrying of immigrants a vessel obtained from Germany as part of Canada's wartime reparations.

The 5,000 immigrants coming to Canada would be deducted from the quota finally set for Canada by the International Refugee Organization. As it was expected to be some months before the organization machinery would begin operating, the government had decided to make this initial contribution.

The immigrants would be handled outside of Canada by officers of the immigration branch of the Mines and Resources Department, but once in Canada they would come under the Labor Department, which then would be assisted by the immigration branch.

The cost of transportation to Canada would be paid by the International Refugee Organization.

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, asked how many displaced persons there now were in Europe and Mr. Howe said it was estimated there were 350,000.

Rain Halts Seeding

TORONTO (CP)—Incessant rainfall has made it impossible to plant seed in at least 1,000,000 acres of Ontario farm lands, Agricultural Minister T. L. Kennedy said today, and, as a result, he estimated the province will be short 45,000,000 bushels of oats and barley by fall.

Attempt Salvage

THE DALLES, Ore. (AP)—Survivors of a canyon flash flood which drowned at least one woman and left more than 100 homeless worked with Red Cross officials today to salvage their belongings. An eight-foot wall of water burst over four harvest camps Saturday during a storm that caused an estimated $1,000,000 loss to the Hood River Valley's rich fruit orchards.

Italy Asks U.S. Help

ROME (AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi asked the Constituent Assembly today for confidence in his Communist-free government and appealed to the United States for financial help to save Italian "freedom and independence."

Communists and other leftists heckled the gaunt Christian Democrat leader throughout his speech, in which he said Italy needed $350,000,000 to pull her through 1947.

Jet Ocean Planes Soon

SHANNON AIRPORT, Eire (Reuter)—There is no reason why jet propulsion should not be introduced on the Trans-Atlantic planes almost immediately, Air Commodore Frank Whittle, Britain's pioneer of jet-propelled aircraft, declared on his arrival here by air from New York.

OTTAWA (CP)—The end of butter rationing and the removal of butter from price controls were announced in the Commons this afternoon by Finance Minister Abbott.

He said dairy products of all kinds were among a further list of goods and services which, effective today, are removed from price ceilings and rationed controls.

He said "the list is much shorter and less important than at previous stages of the decontrol program. The main groups are, first, certain products which it is desirable to remove from control now because of seasonal factors; secondly, a number of metals which show signs of having settled at price levels on world markets substantially above those prevailing in prewar years; and, thirdly, restaurant meals."

"The most important, food-stuffs released from price control are dairy products of all kinds, including butter, cheese, evaporated milk and ice cream. These products now are at their seasonal peak of production and price ceilings can therefore be removed with minimum danger of significant price increases."

"At the same time butter is removed from the list of rationed foods."

"Honey, being subject to the same seasonal factors, is removed from both price control and rationing. All jams, jellies and marmalades are also being de-rationed but price controls are being retained on strawberry and raspberry jam and any jam containing strawberries or raspberries."

"Eggs were removed from price control several weeks ago. Because of good supplies it has now been decided to remove ceilings from poultry and poultry products of all kinds. Canned soups and salt are also released from price ceilings."

"With respect to clothing, home furnishings and household equipment and supplies, the items removed from control are of relatively minor importance. All agricultural equipment and supplies remain under the ceiling, with the exception of brooders, incubators and other poultry equipment for which the current season is past. Hay, which will soon be at its season of high production, is free from control."

BUILDING PRODUCTS
"The new order provides for the removal of only three items in the list of construction products, namely hardwood lumber and plywood made wholly of hardwood and hardwood veneers. This action has been taken, first because practically all end-products have already been removed from control, and second, because increased production in the United States, accompanied by some recession in American prices, is now reducing the cost of hardwood imported into Canada. Millwork of all kinds remains under control."

"In the metals field, the order removes from control lead, copper and zinc, leaving under control only primary and secondary tin and alloys containing more than 95 per cent tin. World prices of lead, copper and zinc appear to have settled fairly steadily at levels considerably above prewar. Since practically all the end-products which embody these metals have already been removed from control, this appeared to be a logical time to complete the process of decontrol of these items."

"The only other important change is to free from control the supplying of meals and refreshments in all public eating places. The government has had to recognize the fact that during the last few months most of the costs which enter into restaurant meals either have been decontrolled or as in the case of meat, butter, sugar, shortening and rents, have had authorized price increases. The government considers the time now appropriate to take this further step."

Jap Theatre Collapses
50 Killed Or Injured
OSAKA (AP)—The Kyodo news agency reported today 50 persons were killed or injured in the collapse of a theatre roof during a youth rally in nearby Kishiwada. The agency said 100 persons had been trapped beneath the falling roof, but half of them were believed unhurt. Rotting timbers caused the collapse.

Mean thieves Saturday night raided the wishing well at Butchart's Gardens, stealing an unknown amount of small coins donated by tourists to Lady Luck and crippled children at the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

The theft, apparently the latest of two or three such thefts which may have netted the thieves several hundred dollars, was reported to Saanich police officers Sunday by Miss M. Shiner of Butchart's Gardens.

The wishing well in the gardens became a new source of revenue for the Solarium last year when "Rebel" Mowat, Gray Line Tours Sightseeing and Taxi Co. bus driver, started telling tourists that their wishes would probably come true if they threw a coin into the wishing well.

At the end of the tourist season last year the wishing well produced about $300 for the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

This year "Rebel," jolly, fun-making bus driver and entertaining monologist, started earlier and made his campaign more intense. It was taken up by other bus drivers.

"Rebel," on the way out to the gardens with a big glass-topped sightseeing bus, would explain to tourists that any wish they made on tossing a coin into the wishing well would probably come true.

He often jokingly explained that one woman had tossed a coin into the well, wishing that she would get a husband. On the way back to Victoria he saw her holding hands with a fellow-passenger of the opposite sex.

After the tourists had visited the well, "Rebel" would explain to them that the money they had thrown to Lady Luck would actually go to the Solarium to help with the treatment of crippled children. This often brought further contributions from tourists, some leaving coins and folding money at the entrance gate for the Solarium.

How much money has been contributed this year, no one but the thieves know; but "Rebel" estimates that the sightseeing buses, which sometimes carry as many as 1,000 tourists to the garden in a single day, averaged about 10 loads, or 300 persons, a day.

Besides the tourists taken out by buses, thousands of others visit the gardens each summer, some of them also making contributions to the Solarium and Lady Luck.

LAST YEAR'S TALLY
When the coins were removed from the wishing well at the end of the tourist season last year, several boxes of coins were removed, the coins ranging from one-cent pieces to 50-cent pieces.

Floods, Twister Claim 22 Lives In Mississippi Valley, Oregon

NEW YORK (CP)—The task of reconstruction for flood-struck lowland residents along the middle reaches of the Mississippi River, particularly at Ottumwa, Ia., was launched today and typhoid inoculations were being administered on a wholesale scale to guard against disease.

The death toll of the wide-spread week-end floods and tornadoes in the United States remained at 22, although authorities feared it would mount before nightfall.

Damage to crops and city property was estimated in the millions of dollars.

Ottumwa, hardest hit by floods, had eight of Iowa's 12 deaths as the Des Moines River receded from about one-third of the homes in the city of 32,000 population.

The Mississippi, swollen by high water from the Des Moines, rolled on over thousands of acres of Illinois and Missouri farm lands after breaking six levees and flooding the village of Alexandria, Mo., and forcing more than 1,000 families to evacuate their lowland farm homes between Warsaw, Ill., and Hannibal, Mo., Sunday. The stream appeared to have crested there with six inches of water in the main street. About 600 families were driven from their homes.

The river reached a record stage of 23.6 feet at Quincy, Ill., but that city, situated on a bluff, escaped damage. Across the river, the lower part of the downtown section of Hannibal was flooded.

FLOOD IN OREGON
A canyon flash flood drowned one person at the Dalles, Ore., and left more than 100 families homeless. Red Cross workers said at least 50 persons saved themselves from drowning by clinging to floating debris as the flood, following a hail and rain storm, caused damage to orchards estimated at more than $1,000,000.

A 15-block area of Sharon, Pa., was leveled and five persons were killed by a tornado which ripped into western Pennsylvania late Saturday from Ohio. Red Cross officials estimated the storm damage in Sharon at $600,000. About 100 rural residents were left homeless at Warren, Canton, O., reported two deaths from floods, Gregory, S.D., one, and Bethany, Mo., one.

The B-36 has been heralded as able to carry at atom bomb to any inhabited part of the earth and return home.

The pilots' cockpit is so far from the tail turret that the crew commutes by railroad. A tiny car on tracks shuttles through the pressurized tube that connects the two crew stations.

The B-36 carries enough gasoline to take an automobile around the world 16 times and then tour Canada. The six wing tanks hold 21,000 gallons—2½ railroad tank cars—of gasoline. Its body has a volume of 17,724 cubic feet, equal to 10 living rooms.

Its six 19-foot electric-hollow steel propellers are the largest ever installed on an aircraft. They resist ice.

The B-36 has lifted 278,000 pounds—139 tons—the heaviest load ever lifted by a plane.

The wing spread is 230 feet.

Duncan Logger, Geologists At Odds On 'Diamond' Find

VANCOUVER (CP) — University of British Columbia geologists and a logging operator of Duncan are at odds concerning the authenticity of a 2½-inch "diamond."

Logging operator John Stotz is certain he has hit the jack-pot with the milky-white stone, about the size of a hen's-egg, he found 22 years ago.

Mr. Stotz was convinced he had found the "real thing" when he saw a picture of an uncut diamond which he claims to be identical to his own.

"Mine is even better," he said. "It is bloodshot."

University geologists, however, are a little more skeptical, and believe that mining of diamonds in B.C. is "very improbable."

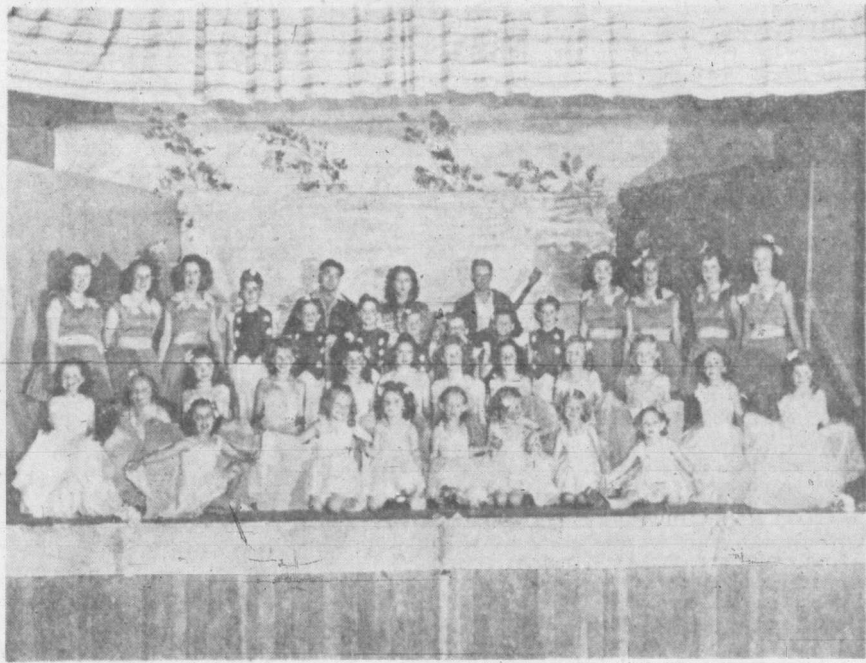

Mr. Stotz, moreover, is telling no one where he found his precious stone.

In gay costumes, designed by Mrs. Margery Lindley and Miss Beverly Arnet, tiny tots and teen-agers participated in a colorful and well-attended dance revue at the Sooke Community Hall Saturday night, proceeds of which will aid the Solarium. One of the highlights of the revue was the number in which youngsters Georgianna Colthurst, Sharon Clark, Judy Goldie, Donna Michelson, Ellouise Nixon, Georgina Osbourne and Winona Quinn took part.

Water Color School Gives Duncan Display

DUNCAN — Two hundred persons gathered in St. John's Hall here Friday afternoon to view 66 pictures, produced by the School of Water Color Painting at Victoria.

There was great interest in the display throughout the district with 14 of the pictures shown by Mrs. J. Islay Mutter, a former Duncan resident, and five by Mrs. H. P. Swan, who lately returned to Duncan from overseas.

Mrs. Mutter's "Thunderbird" and Mrs. Swan's "Archery at Duncan" attracted much attention and praise, as did several pictures of the local "Stone Church" on the Indian Reserve. Rev. H. T. Archbold opened the exhibition and welcomed the guests. Miss Amy Stone, in-structress, spoke on the principle and technique of art, while Mrs. H. P. Swan, who only commenced painting last January, spoke on the beginners' reaction.

Police Question Children On Deaths

MASSILLON, O. (AP) — Six small children who were patients in Massillon city hospital Friday night when two baby girls were found dying of skull fractures at the foot of their cribs were questioned today by Police Chief Stanley W. Switzer, who said he was working on the theory the deaths were accidental.

Funeral services were held today for the baby girls, 10-weeks-old Diana J. Brand and nine-weeks-old Rosemary Morton. They had been the sole occupants of hospital room 407, where the bodies were found by a nurse who had left the children sleeping 10 minutes earlier.

The interview with the children followed a report from Ralph Fricke, who said he saw two small children in the hallway between the sun room and the pediatrics ward during his visit to his son on the fourth floor Friday.

Says Man Still Man Despite Atom Age

OTTAWA (CP) — Man of the atomic age must not be allowed to forget that even if time and space have taken on a meaning unknown to his forefathers, he nevertheless remains a man. Very Rev. Jean Charles Laframboise, rector of the University of Ottawa, said during convocation exercises at the week-end.

"He must be taught that art and science of personal guidance, of self-respect, the superiority of spirit over matter, of intellect over senses," continued the rector. "He must be made to realize that the exclusive domain of science is truth, and that goodness or baseness of things and deeds is determined by philosophy."

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, Msgr. Maxime Tessier and John O'Neill of the Archdiocese of Ottawa were presented with honorary degrees.

Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, received an honorary degree in absentia.

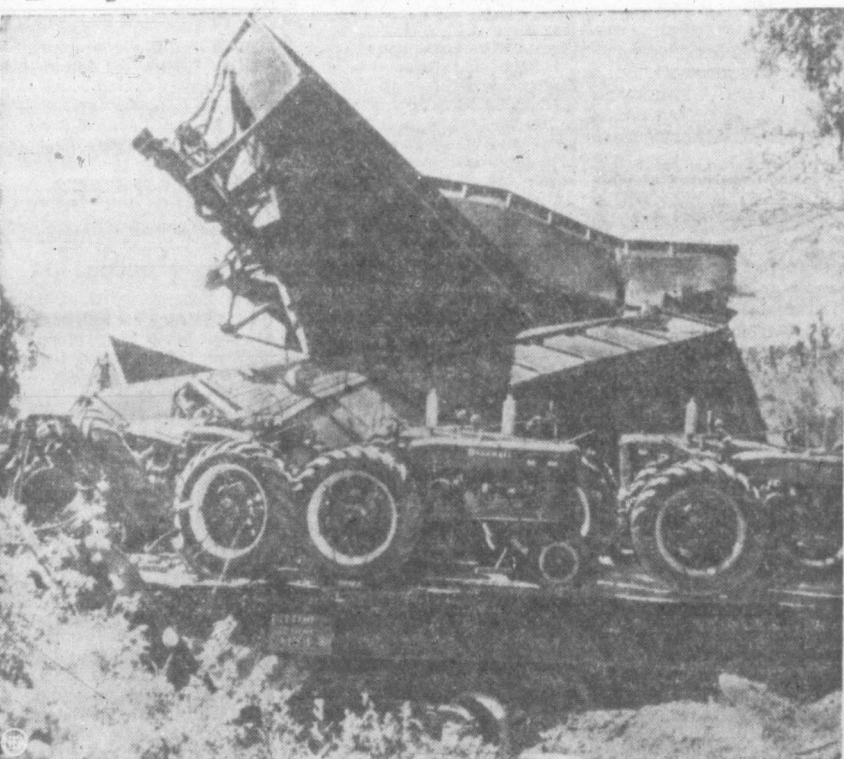

14 U.S. Sailors Desert

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The United States navy oiler Mattaponi sailed for the Persian Gulf Saturday, leaving behind 14 American sailors absent without leave from the Mattaponi and other ships of Task Force 38, which sailed May 27. The Mattaponi developed boiler trouble when the remainder of the force sailed and stayed in Sydney for repairs.

NICE (Reuter) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor will arrive at their residence at Cap d'Antibes on the French Riviera tomorrow, coming from Paris by road. Other visitors awaited on the Riviera are King Peter of Yugoslavia, who will arrive July 15 for a month, and the New York opera singer, Lily Pons.

Little Interest As British Soccer Season Dies Out

LONDON (CP) — With settlement of the First Division soccer championship postponed to June 14 when Stoke City is to play a decisive game with Sheffield United, chief interest Saturday centred in the 4 to 2 defeat of Sheffield Wednesday by Chesterfield.

Outstanding feature of the game was the hat-trick scored in the second half from penalty kicks by Chesterfield's fullback George Milburn.

In the Second Division, Newport gave mighty Newcastle a 4 to 2 beating, gaining timely revenge for their crushing 13 to 0 defeat at Tyneside last October.

The dying soccer season saw diminished attendances at most soccer fixtures throughout the country as the eyes of the sporting world turned towards the historic Derby at Epsom.

China's Attitude To Russia Stiffens

NANKING (AP) — The Chinese government's attitude toward Russia has stiffened lately, and political observers said Saturday a press campaign against Soviet lack of co-operation may be near. The government's official Central News Agency, which has studiously shunned stories implicating Russians in the civil war, earlier this week quoted a Foreign Office spokesman as openly declaring the Russian Press was giving support "to those elements in China seeking the overthrow of the government by force."

Reece said it must be recognized, however, that the Democratic Party in the last 14 years "played ball with radical groups and elements in return for the political support which those groups were able to supply."

Rioters At Cremona Dispersed By Tanks

ROME (Reuter) — Italian troops with tanks dispersed political rioters at Cremona Sunday, the Milan correspondent of the newspaper Messaggero reported today.

A number of people, including the local police chief, were injured in the struggle. The clash was reported to have begun when a crowd, including women, attacked people who were going to the local congress of the Uomo Qualunque Party (Party of the Common Man, accused by its opponents of Fascist tendencies).

Hungarians Flee Toward U.S. Zone

VIENNA (Reuter) — The thousand-odd Hungarian refugees in Vienna were said Saturday to be leaving in panic westward towards the United States zone on the publication of a report that one of their number, Zoltan von Borbely, a journalist, had disappeared and was believed to have been kidnapped and taken to Hungary.

Von Borbely was a Vienna correspondent of "Pesti Hirlap," organ of the Smallholders Party.

What is the Secret of Family Health

One family is always healthy. In the next family there seems to always be someone sick.

Why?

It used to be customary to blame this condition on heredity.

But recent investigations show that far more depends on living and eating habits.

The underlying cause of low vitality is often traceable to a lack of vitamin B₁ and essential minerals derived from the food consumed.

As a result whole families may be found to be subject to a low condition of health which leaves them prey to serious and annoying ailments.

More and more intelligent thinking people are learning to depend on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a "pick-me-up" to help them out of a low condition of vitality.

It is usually the mother in the home who is largely responsible for the family health and most mothers know about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and what it can do to help restore richness to the blood and vigor to the nervous system.

In most families, these days, there are excesses of work, worry and anxiety which overtax the nerves and cause headaches, irritability, loss of sleep and indigestion.

But these troubles do not need to get you down if you let Dr. Chase's Nerve Food help you.

School age children who have become pale, weak, languid and anemic are soon helped back to robust health by the use of this tonic treatment for the blood and the nerves.

Ask your druggist for the economy size bottle of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

ROYAL MILESTONE

THE OFFICIAL CELEBRATION TODAY of the birthday of His Majesty George VI serves to call to closer attention the outstanding success which is being achieved by this man who never expected to be King. During a period when less stable European thrones have toppled, when the thought of royalty has become anathema to an increasingly large group of people drawn into the churning Communist whirlpools of Europe, the popularity of the British Royal Family has continued to increase and flourish.

The solid character of the British people, with whom the King and his household shared the rigors of modern warfare, accounts for much of the stability which supports the Throne. But the monarch himself, being British, also partakes of this character, and he has brought to his exacting office those qualities which have endeared him to his people. The individual nations of the Commonwealth joined today in observance of this official milestone in the life of their King; for he reigns directly as the King of Canada, of Australia and the other Dominions equally as he reigns on the throne of Great Britain. Time will continue to show that the strength of a constitutional monarch—answerable to the law like any of his subjects, but living in dignity, respect and affection as a focal point of their national and human aspirations—is far greater than that of the ephemeral leaders who must depend upon the ceremonial tramping of vast army hordes, or upon violent, jingoistic mouthings from a balcony, to maintain the popular favor of their people.

THE LAST CHANCE

ONE WEEK FROM NEXT THURSDAY the property owners of the four municipalities which comprise the Greater Victoria area will have another opportunity to decide the transportation issue. It should be understood that the proposal set forth in the by-law which already has been published will require to be approved by a three-fifths majority. This is in conformity with the law respecting civic programs involving financial outlay.

It should not be necessary at this late stage to remind the people of this community that only with their authority will it be possible to discard the present antiquated street-railway system and replace it with one that not only will guarantee an efficient modern service upon which many thousands depend, but also afford visible evidence to visitors to this part of Vancouver Island that our people are desirous of showing a progressive front.

It is generally understood that one of the reasons why the transportation by-law failed to win the necessary majority of votes at the municipal elections last December was that insufficient publicity had been given to the various details involved. No such excuse can be trotted out at this stage. The property owners in particular and the public as a whole are in possession of adequate information about the new proposal—submitted to and approved by the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee—to enable them to settle the issue.

Nobody will seriously argue that a progressive-minded body of property owners will defeat the by-law on June 19. But there remains a certain section of the public which finds it difficult to differentiate between the requirements of the present day and those that seemed to meet the bill before the dawn of the atomic age. Consequently if the Greater Victoria area decides to relegate itself to existence in a horse-and-buggy atmosphere what, may we ask, is to be the future of those young men and women who desire to make their homes and bring up their families in this capital city of the province of British Columbia?

In other words, surely it will not be said of those eligible to vote on June 19 that they turned back the clock of progress by defeating a proposal which, for example, will give wage-earners and others of this community the privilege of traveling on a modern transportation system as often as they like for $1.00 per week—cheaper than anywhere else on this continent?

APPROVAL ESSENTIAL

THE IMPERATIVE NEED OF MORE school buildings in Greater Victoria has been fully emphasized by those in the best position to assess requirements. In the course of the next five years facilities must be afforded for an expanding population. Obsolescence must be overcome if the city and surrounding municipalities are to keep pace with the times and give youth the educational opportunities to which it is entitled.

As a matter of citizenship, all ratepayers qualified to vote should exercise their franchise. This is their duty to themselves and to the younger generation. It is their opportunity to manifest their faith in the community and to make adequate provision for the development of future citizens.

While those with children of school age appear to have a more direct concern in the by-laws which will be presented for decision in the city a week from next Thursday—and in other municipalities as soon after that date as possible—the desire of the entire region to progress will be measured to a large degree by the outcome of the voting. This area cannot afford a repetition of reactionary tendencies manifested many years ago when such an issue as technical school provision was turned down by the ratepayers.

Those who have studied the subject of the by-law even cursorily will have noted that the ambitious construction program for which approval is sought is spread over a period of five years. This means, of course, that the authorities need the consent of the ratepayers to make their overall plan. Only by an affirmative vote can the required integration be effected. It does not mean, however, that all schools will be started immediately. The establishment for which the need is most urgent would be built without delay. What is of special importance, however, is that those who have been elected to direct school affairs should be supported in their forward-looking policy.

WORK ON OUR ROADS NEEDED

TO WHAT EXTENT CIVIC AND MUNICIPAL finance will permit the accomplishment of workmanlike jobs on this community's roads that have been crying for attention for years is conjectural. It would be unreasonable, for instance, to expect the respective councils to bring about at one stroke the metamorphosis that is required on traveled surfaces in the Greater Victoria area. At the same time it is logical for the residents of the district to expect a larger measure of improvement than has been noticeable in recent years.

The time is passed when the pressing emergencies of municipal finance, the extreme urgency of relieving the small home owner of a taxation burden too heavy for him, should be used as an excuse for foregoing improvements that are obviously necessary.

As a case in point, the intermunicipal section of Foul Bay Road south of Beaver Street to the intersection of Crescent Road has been unsatisfactory for many years. Not even a primitive sidewalk has been built on either side of the road, and the crown, at some points, constitutes a danger to all who are crowded off it by traffic. That is but one instance of inadequacy in the provision of facilities for taxpayers.

It seems, however, to be the attitude of those who might direct improvements to consider the road question in Victoria to be one which must await decision on a transportation franchise before any substantial policy is laid down. In the meantime, potholes are filled temporarily with material that brings evenness to streets for a relatively short time. Only those informed on the engineering details concerned can determine whether such a procedure is, or is not, economical.

In the meantime, tourists and potential settlers travel the streets of Greater Victoria. They can find scant attraction in that form of "quaintness" which arises from the dilapidation of the road surfacing, the lack of sidewalks, the bedraggled condition of grass growing where properly constructed gutters and boulevards may be expected sometime in the remote future. And as visitors observe the unsatisfactory condition of many of our streets, they can scarcely be inclined to view them as inducements to make their homes here. For the comfort and convenience of the residents, no less than for the necessary improvement of appearances, something should be done about the streets and their borders by a community which prides itself on its highly desirable residential character.

WELCOME VISITORS

VICTORIA IS HAPPY TODAY TO BE host to more than 300 members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association—the important national organization which has just concluded the business of its 76th annual meeting at Banff. No doubt many of the visiting industrialists are familiar with the ports of the British Columbia coast; but it was a fortunate circumstance that their deliberations this year were held so near the "Great Divide" that only a little additional time was required to complete the journey to Vancouver and to this capital city. While the train jaunt from the Alberta boundary and on along the banks of the Thompson and the Fraser is scenic rather than industrial in its appeal, close association with business and civic leaders of the province will have provided the travellers with a new concept of the possibilities for development projects in this last great frontier of the Dominion. All of which means that the better our people know one another the better will it be eventually for the country as a whole.

A PLEA FOR PRUDENCE

THE SITUATION IN ITALY and in central Europe has taken a decided turn for the worse just as the U.S. Senate has dealt with ratification of the satellite treaties. Yet it seems to me that what has happened is, if we examine it, a reason, though it runs counter to American feelings, for prompt ratification (which is what Secretary Marshall and Senator Vandenberg wanted) rather than for delay.

The new situation is marked by two connected events—one of them in Budapest and one in Rome. In Hungary and in Italy there have been until recently, and indeed since the armistice, coalition governments. Now there is in Hungary a government which the Communists dominate. In Italy there is now a government in which the Communists and the Socialists are not included, against which they are in open opposition and perhaps in actual rebellion.

WHAT MAKES THE situation so dangerously difficult is that the Communist-Socialist opposition to the present Italian government draws its main strength from the industrial areas of northern Italy, which are separated only by an imaginary line from Yugoslavia and Hungary. The stage is therefore set, the lines of communication have been opened for Soviet support of an Italian revolutionary opposition to the De Gasperi government in Rome.

Moreover the political restraint upon the Italian opposition has been reduced, if not removed entirely, by the fact that the De Gasperi government does not represent the legally elected majority in the legislature.

It follows that the frontier between Italy and the Soviet orbit has now become more important than it was when Mr. Byrnes was negotiating the Italian treaty.

THE BASIC ISSUE is, however, no longer what it was, that is to say where the frontier should be drawn, and who should have Trieste and Istria. The question now is whether any international frontier can be established and maintained which will separate the revolutionary opposition in northern Italy from its allies in Yugoslavia, Hungary, and the Soviet Union.

The ratification of the treaty will establish an international frontier which is legally binding upon all the United Nations. The violation of that frontier would then be a question for the United Nations. If, however, the treaty is not ratified, the dividing line will be merely the present armistice line which is held by British and American troops. For this reason it seems to me that the United States had the greatest interest in a prompt ratification of the Italian treaty, and of the others which are grouped with it. For this will broaden the responsibility for the maintenance of law and order to include all the United Nations. Delay, on the other hand, in present conditions could have been tantamount to rejecting the treaty, would have put upon the U.S. with such help as the British could give, the sole responsibility for maintaining the territorial integrity, and maybe the independence, of Italy.

THAT WOULD, I BELIEVE, multiply the risks and greatly increase the burden the United States has assumed. No doubt she will now have to supply the economic support for Italian relief and recovery. But what she must seek to avoid is finding herself in a position where an Italian government, opposed by great masses of Italians, is sponsored and supported by the United States alone.

That would be ruinous to the Italian government, since it would be pictured as a minority government and a puppet of the United States. The State Department has already laid itself open to that line of attack, which the Soviets will surely pursue, by its effusive and clumsily timed endorsement of the new De Gasperi government.

Europe cannot be saved from Soviet domination or from economic collapse and anarchy by a series of unilateral American interventions. The supreme problem which confronts Secretary Marshall is to extricate the United States from the consequences and the commitments of a spasmodic unilateralism and get it replaced by a European policy—which the United States can promote, induce, and support but cannot initiate and impose—of reconstruction and unification and stabilization.

America is in grave danger not of withdrawing into isolation as in 1919 but of advancing into isolated interventions all over the globe. She is not strong enough or wise enough to do that successfully, and she will squander her influence, power, and resources if she attempts it.

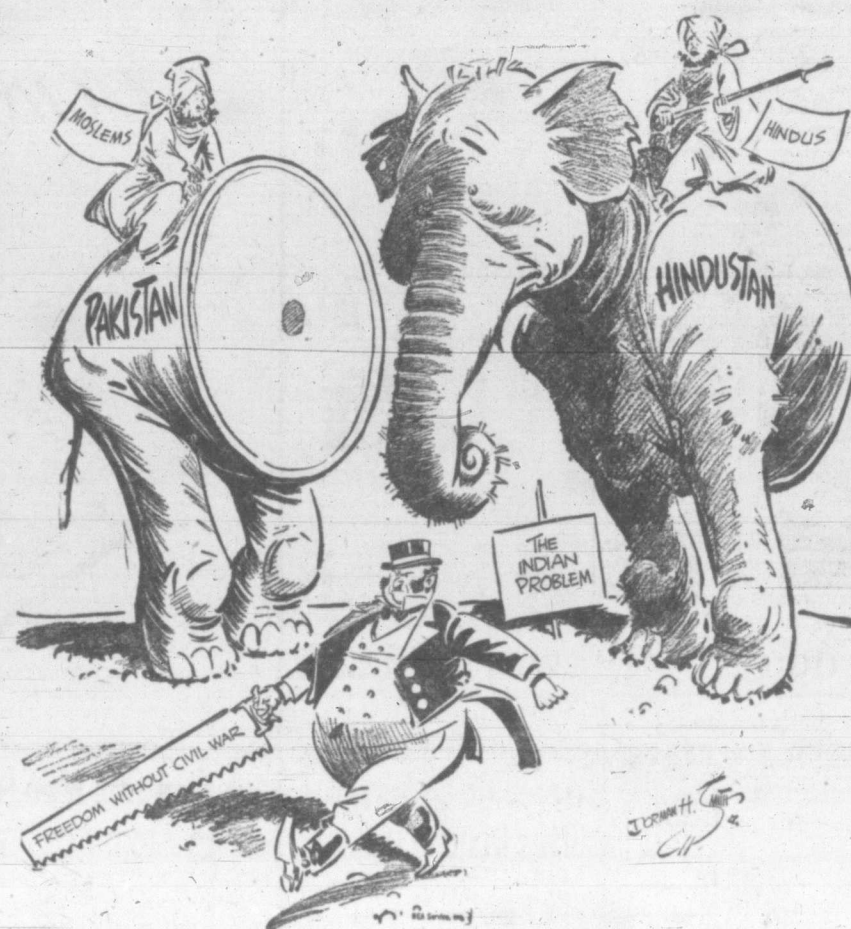

Thus there should not be, a United States-Italian policy, as now seems to be, but only an Allied policy in which Great Britain and France, at the minimum, have an equal moral and political responsibility. For to have an American policy is not a true policy of international co-operation but in the literal and worst meaning of the word an "entangling alliance."

The United States is too far out front in too many places. She is taking on too many problems. She is making too many quick decisions, accepting too many moral commitments, striking too many attitudes.

For her own good and for the sake of peace most of these things should be shared in the process of decision, shared as to political responsibility, with other governments. For otherwise the United States may find that Uncle Sam is the head of the parade and that everybody is out of step but Uncle.

As Others See It

Investment In Education

From the Rockefeller Foundation Review

NO MONEY is ever wasted which is invested in the training of men. This is a principle to which the Foundation has subscribed for more than three decades. During this period, funds totaling $21,000,000 have been appropriated for advanced training through approximately 8,000 fellowships in all countries of the world and in practically all fields, from sanitary engineering to Shakespearean scholarship. In terms of intellectual leadership and achievement have been gratifying beyond anything that was contemplated when the fellowship system was first inaugurated, and in the opinion of the Foundation no money which it has so far disbursed has brought such substantial returns. It has been an investment in brains, an underwriting of promising talent, and its consequences are today evident in many parts of the world.

AINING TRAVEL

The Foundation's regular fellowships, its postwar fellowships, its postwar predoctoral fellowships, and the special grants for developing trained personnel in advanced mathematics are all concerned, of course, with younger men, those who are the potential intellectual leaders of the future. But there are older men of established reputation whom the war has shut off from contact with the scholarship of other nations. To meet this situation, the Foundation expanded its program of travel grants, a technique hitherto employed for more specific purposes. These grants, providing travel and living expenses, enable the scholar to spend several months in resuming contacts with his colleagues in other countries.

EXTENSIVE GRANTS

A total of 129 visitors, citizens of 27 different countries, were assisted during 1946. Of these, 17 each were from the United States and Great Britain, 12 each from Czechoslovakia, 11 each from France and Norway, 8 from Denmark, 6 each from Mexico and Finland, 5 each from Poland and Yugoslavia, 4 each from Canada and Sweden, 3 from Belgium, and 2 each from Colombia, the Philippines, the Dominican Republic, Greece, India and Switzerland. Eight additional countries received single grants. The Foundation also made grants to institutions in France, Great Britain, The Netherlands, Norway, Syria and the United States for the same purpose.

Letters To The Editor

SUGAR

Referring to Mrs. Stanley H. Clarke's letter of Thursday's Times, I can't answer the technical query in it as to why the sugar ration for May has been cut; but I should like to point out that there is little cause for complaint in the Canadian ration.

I have just come over from England and, in comparison, although we learn to manage, the ration here seems more than adequate and the 20 pounds of cane sugar is a grand sight in the larger—my family of four—entitling me to that amount.

I certainly have not had to touch it for our ordinary use; and may I also point out that fruit can be preserved quite well without sugar which can be added just when the fruit is required.

ASKS FOR RESIGNATIONS

The action of the Victoria City Council in electing a board of commissioners to govern the arena composed of a majority of men who were opposed to the arena being a municipally-owned project constitutes a betrayal of the promises made to those organizations who labored so hard to raise money for the project.

Not a single member of the citizens' arena committee was named to the board.

The arena was not intended to be a profit-making scheme for the city but to give the children of Greater Victoria healthful recreation at the lowest possible cost.

Already there are rumors of a pro hockey franchise, with the emphasis being placed on commercialized sport. Are the kiddies to be sandwiched in between "pro" hockey games, etc., or are they to have priority use of the arena for organized and unorganized sport?

In view of the large amount of public criticism, the decent thing would be to tender their resignations immediately and pave the way for the election of a new board in which the citizens of Victoria have confidence.

HAROLD E. THAYER.

HOUSING PROBLEMS

The housing needs of the returned veterans are still as urgent as ever. Many of our citizens appear to have adopted the view that the housing problem can be left to adjust itself.

The veteran is well aware that his absence during the period when population movements filled the vacancies in urban housing is responsible for his homeless condition.

Some of our local municipalities have recognized their responsibilities in this matter, others have evaded them. The city of Victoria has built, or has under construction, three hundred and fifty houses which are designed to rent at prices the lower income group among the veterans can afford. Victoria has recently applied for the building of fifty more houses of the same type. These houses were built in co-operation with Wartime Housing Ltd.

The municipality of Esquimalt has two hundred and seventy-five Wartime houses within its boundaries; these are in addition to a large amount of tax free federal government property.

The municipalities of Oak Bay and Saanich have shown little or no sign of helping in this important problem.

Surely Oak Bay and Saanich can take advantage of the machinery set up under Wartime Housing Ltd. and make available to the veteran a few hundred more low rental homes. At least, let them ask the Wartime Housing Ltd. staff to meet them and explain what they have to offer.

CARL FALLAS,
Chairman, District Council Canadian Legion.

TAXPAYER VETERAN SPEAKS

I wish to raise my voice in protest against the selection made for the Arena Commission. What are the City Fathers doing, paying the road for another privately-owned arena? Surely the interests of the younger generation and the general public would be better served if the commission was selected by a vote by the people of Victoria, aided by the original sponsors from several organizations throughout the city.

There are three men on the commission who opposed public ownership when the arena project was first discussed. I, as a taxpayer and a returned man, do not think these men are fit for the job in view of their attitude and actions of the past.

Russia has begun to make good, in a small way, the prediction of Marshal Stalin to Mr. Harold Stassen—that in time Russia and United States students and scientists would mingle more freely together. This would be the first cultural exchange with Russia in peacetime and might prove the beginning of a much larger program.

INDIAN INDEPENDENCE

London (Ont.) Free Press
Oddly enough the value of the British rule in India becomes more apparent as the British prepare to leave. Only British rule has made possible a united India with certain basic rights guaranteed for each individual. That has been a great contribution, whether the Indians realize it or not. How great it has been they may learn when they attempt to build something of the same sort themselves.

TISSINGTON IN DERBYSHIRE

Coming Events in Britain
On Holy Thursday, after Ascension Day, the people attend a service at the village church, and then the clergy and choir come to each of the wells in their turn and bless the waters. This picturesque custom has been an annual celebration since the days of the Black Death, when the continued purity of the water at Tissington saved the people in the village from being infected with the dread plague. In their gratitude they thanked the waters, and their descendants have blessed the wells annually to this day.

BILINGUAL CIVIL SERVANTS

Exchange
Language is the key to understanding any race of people, and top government officials more than anyone else should possess that key.

Twenty years from now, all administrative positions in the civil service carrying a salary of say, $6700 and over, should be limited to persons speaking both French and English.

Such a requirement should cover only administrative and perhaps professional positions. Scientific appointments would always have to be made from among the best available specialists who could hardly be expected to find time to learn a second language in adult life.

ANCIENT AND MODERN

London Calling
There are few things more astonishing about London than the way that modern enterprise and old-time custom flourish side by side. If you walk down Piccadilly, for instance, on any weekday morning, at about half-past nine, you will see a little black-and-yellow coach standing outside a hatter's there. The coachman, in his tall hat with its gold band, and his traditional double-breasted, wide-skirted coat with brass buttons, will be holding the horse. His son, dressed in the same way, will probably be coming out of the shop with a collection of hats in big, oval boxes, to stow away in the coach for delivery. There is nothing backward about this shop. It has a big export business, and it supplies a great many of the most famous Englishmen with hats. It is so well known overseas, that a customer coming in from the bustle of Piccadilly, asking for a certain sized hat, and saying that he has only just arrived in London from Newfoundland or the Gold Coast, creates no surprise at all. But... well... its hats have been delivered round the town by coach for so many years now, that it seems no reason to make a change.

Available Now

Sir Stafford Cripps, the president of the Board of Trade, recently spoke in London of the big job done by United Kingdom experts in offering to the world German techniques and scientific developments. Apart from public patents owned by German nationals which already have been released to 28 countries under an accord adopted by the International Conference last year, German techniques which were not patented also have been made available. "A very remarkable job has been done in publishing hundreds of reports of technical investigations by experts into processes and manufactures so as to make available to everyone who wishes to have it the great store of knowledge accumulated by the Germans during and before the war."

Rotary Convention Opens Sessions In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO—With an attendance of more than 13,000 Rotarians and members of their families from 70 countries of Europe, Asia, Africa, the islands of the Pacific and North and South America, the 38th annual convention of Rotary International convened here Sunday.

Opening the convention program, Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California, declared new relationships among nations and peoples must be discovered and made workable whereby men may be led to become good national citizens of an international community, as Rotarian nationals are of Rotary International.

Highlight of the convention program Sunday evening was the concert by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, with Meredith Willson conducting and Florence Quartaro as guest soloist. The orchestra broadcast its regular Sunday night network program "The Standard Hour," from the Rotary convention stage.

SUPPORT U.N. EFFORTS

Keynote of this five-day gathering of business and professional executives, representing 6,200 Rotary clubs in 76 countries, is the internationality of the Rotary organization. Throughout the convention emphasis will be given to the opportunities which Rotarians have in all parts of the world to assist in the achievement of the goals of the United Nations. These goals are strikingly similar to one of the principal objectives of Rotary International—the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace.

Presiding over the convention is the president of Rotary International, Richard C. Hedke, noted industrialist of Detroit, Mich., who has just returned

Slow, Steady Progress Reported By Canada At Trade Conference

GENEVA (CP)—Virtually all the tariff negotiations planned by the preparatory committee for the International Trade Conference have begun and at least two pairs of countries are about to conclude agreements, Eric Wyndham-White, secretary of the committee, said today.

During the six weeks that tariff negotiations have been progressing approximately 100 meetings have been held. France and Czechoslovakia are said to be leading in the number of countries with which negotiations have been opened—each with 14 countries.

"Like everyone else, we are making slow but steady progress," said L. Dana Wilgoss, head of the Canadian delegation.

The minister-designate to Switzerland and former ambassador to Russia is chairman of one of the preparatory committee's two commissions and also is chairman of the steering committee.

Canadians have started discussions with 11 powers on tariff questions, with H. B. McKinnon, chairman of the Canadian tariff board, handling the talks.

Principally concerned with the I.T.O. draft charter are J. J.

Deutsch, director of economic relations in the finance department, and F. A. McGregor, commissioner of the combined investigations act under the justice department.

Greece and Czechoslovakia have made good progress in their talks and each has only one country left with which it proposes to open negotiations.

BRITAIN SEEKS 12 FACTS

The United States is negotiating with 13 countries and Great Britain with 12. Both powers are far advanced in their "horse trading" but, according to both British and U.S. sources, wool tariffs are an all-important issue. British Commonwealth countries have presented a common front on many questions. All are watching the progress of the major wool bill before the U.S. Senate, already passed by the House of Representatives, which would increase tariffs on wool imports into the United States.

Tariff negotiations among the 18 countries are only one phase of the five-month conference, now expected to close in August. The other is writing the draft charter for the international trade union to be formed next spring.

Red Cross Trains Swim Instructors In Water Safety

About 25 swimmers from all parts of British Columbia were in Victoria last week attending a training school of water safety, held in the Crystal Garden and sponsored by the Vancouver Island division of the Canadian Red Cross.

All qualified as swimming instructors and are now returning to their respective cities and towns to organize swimming instruction classes and put their knowledge of water safety to good use.

Two years ago the Red Cross Society decided that something should be done about the alarming number of deaths by drowning and set up facilities to teach more Canadians the art of swimming. There are now committees in every province carrying out this undertaking.

Red Cross officials are anxious to teach every child how to handle himself in water. They feel swimming is not only a healthy pastime, but also a form of life insurance.

The instruction campaign in this province is headed by Douglas Whittle. Last year, 110 fully qualified swimming instructors were trained in B.C. This year's program will qualify even more.

During the training school program last week, 44 children between 10 and 12 years of age, who recently completed a swimming class for students of Greater Victoria schools, gave a display of what they had learned. The class which they attended was sponsored by the Greater Victoria School Board.

Another swimming class is now being organized. Instruction periods will be held between 4 and 6 p.m., every Tuesday and Thursday in the Crystal Garden, starting June 16.

Parents who would like to give their children the opportunity to learn the fundamentals of swimming and water safety, are invited to make inquiries at the Victoria branch headquarters of the Red Cross Society, 602 Broughton Street.

Eagles Protest Arena Election

Election to the arena commission of two men whom they say "have made it quite clear at the outset that they had no interest in, or would not contribute to a Civic Arena," was deplored by the Victoria Aerie No. 12, Fraternal Order of Eagles at a special meeting here. A copy of the protest was forwarded to the City Council.

"It was felt that the directors should have been chosen from groups or individuals which had proven their interest by assisting at the outset to further this project," the letter stated. "It is the earnest hope of this order that the council will reconsider the members constituting the arena directorship."

Blimp Manoeuvres Over City Eye-Opener To Local Airman

R.C.A.F. Officer Takes Turn At Airship Controls

By ALLAN JENKINS

Blimps can do things in the air which would make many a skilled airplane pilot shudder.

The man who can testify to this is Group Capt. F. R. West, commanding officer of the R.C.A.F. station at Patricia Bay.

During the week-end a Times press party took to the air in the visiting Goodyear blimp Volunteer, along with Group Captain West who, like the press party, made his first trip in a lighter-than-air craft, piloted by the veteran pilot, Capt. R. H. Hobensack, retired U.S. Navy commander.

At the start, we knew Group Captain West would get the "special treatment" meted out to airplane pilots. With this knowledge, we watched somewhat apprehensively as the ground crew relieved the blimp of bags of shot and sand to lighten the craft for its journey over the city. Soon all was ready and the ground crew heaved the Volunteer into the air.

With a grin on his face, Capt.

Hobensack whirled away at the vertical wheel governing the blimp's elevators, and the craft seemed to stand on end. The R.C.A.F. pilot looked a little startled, along with the rest of us. A stunt such as that would have been practically suicide in an airplane. The Volunteer climbed into the air at 1,400 feet a minute at what we could have sworn was a 90 degree angle, but which Capt. Hobensack assured us was merely a 30 degree angle.

At last the craft levelled out and we regained our composure. "She won't stall at all, eh?" queried the group captain.

That part over, Capt. Hobensack, pilot-in-chief of the four pilots accompanying the Volunteer on its Pacific tour, headed the airship over the Saanich peninsula towards Victoria and district.

AIR FORCE MAN TAKES OVER

After a quick briefing on the piloting of a blimp, Group Capt. West moved over into the pilot's seat and took over the controls. After a few minutes of piloting, he found that it seemed quite natural and Capt. Hobensack rated the Canadian airman's ability as "very good."

As we came closer to the city, the blimp pilot again took over the controls. The craft rode comfortably, dipping gently in the air, but appearing to ride much more smoothly than an airplane.

Beneath the blimp stretched miles of field looking like a patchwork quilt. All along the way, curious residents of the peninsula craned their necks to get a good view of the Volunteer.

Finally, we came over the city and Capt. Hobensack went down to 1,000 feet altitude to give Times cameraman Irving Strickland an opportunity for some good shots out of blimp's gondola.

Again the craft proved its advantage over airplanes, Capt. Hobensack merely removed a strip from the windows and "Strick" hung himself out over the city with his Speed Graphic and shot away with great delight.

To make things easier for "Strick" the pilot slowed down to about 10 miles an hour and hovered over the various buildings which Strick finally managed to sort out, from the air.

It wasn't a case of shooting a picture as best he could. The captain and "Strick" got together on angle shots and distance and Capt. Hobensack would then manoeuvre his craft just the way "Strick" wanted it.

"Strick" had just readied himself for a shot and Capt. Hobensack was swinging the craft in what seemed to be its own length when Group Capt. West, who was amazedly taking it all in, said "Boy, we'd be in the soup just about now in an ordinary aircraft."

From the blimp, just idling up

The Volunteer, anchored to her portable mast at Patricia Bay. Guy wires, held to the ground by five foot screws embedded in the earth, hold the mast erect. This gear can keep the blimp anchored safely in winds as high as 85 miles an hour.

Frames are attached to the sides of the blimp's envelope by means of straps fastened to systematically located patches. Because of the lift limitations of baby blimps, neon signs can be carried on only one side. In addition to the 10 universal neon frames, blimpcasting equipment consists of a typewriter-style tape punch and a translator. News flashes are first typed on a perforated tape outside the blimp before takeoff. The tape is then run through an electrical translator, which is carried in the control car, after the blimp has taken off.

By means of a complicated system of electrical relays, numbering in the hundreds, messages on the perforated tape are transmitted by cables to each of the neon frames.

In the air, it was easy to get a good overall view of the city reaches. Downtown afternoon traffic was plain to the eye and you could discern everything of the pedestrians but the features of their face.

COULD LAND AT THE OFFICE

If it had not been for restrictions requiring aircraft to remain at 1,000 feet altitude or more over land, Capt. Hobensack told us he could have gone low enough to let one of us go down on a ladder to the roof of one of the city's office buildings. We were impressed but glad the law said, "1,000 feet."

Off blimp's starboard bow, as we headed over the Parliament Buildings, we could see cricketers playing at Macdonald Park.

Finally we turned back for the return journey to Patricia Bay. To give us a good view of the Cordova Bay shoreline, Capt. Hobensack, who on his second visit here is becoming a Vancouver Island enthusiast, piloted the Volunteer over the water and went down to about 300 feet above sea level. At one point we seemed to be on eye-level with a group of people standing on the waterfront highway waving back in response to "Strick," who was hanging half of himself out the window to greet them.

At last we approached the landing field, but things broke well that day for the Goodyear Co. which is trying to persuade the public of the value and safety of the airship. A T.C.A. plane was coming in for a landing and had precedence over the Volunteer. Instead of circling the field to wait its turn, the blimp simply "parked" in the air until it could go in.

The way was clear and we nosed down toward the runway where the ground crew waited to grasp the landing lines trailing out from the blimp. Guided by expert hands, the Volunteer finally came to rest and the trip was over.

PASSENGERS MAY SMOKE

The danger of fire, which seems to remain in the minds of many people when they think of lighter-than-air craft, was not apparent. The ground crew smoked in the vicinity of the blimp and we were able to smoke while we were aloft.

One of the safety factors of the airship pointed out by Capt. Hobensack was the fact that even if the engines went dead, the blimp would remain aloft and under the control of the pilot.

National Council Advocates A Roster Of Trained Women

REGINA (CP)—A plan to prepare a roster of trained and experienced women who would be available for technical or advisory posts in both international and national government fields today is before the National Council of Women holding their 54th annual convention here.

Miss Margaret Hyndman of Toronto said in the report of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, read by Mrs. Ruth McGill of Regina, that Canadian women were at a disadvantage in the matter of international and national appointments because of lack of information on the part of the government.

Many women's organizations would aid in the project.

Other resolutions to be discussed today include one advocating the lowering of the voting age to 18 years and another urging psychiatric examination and treatment for sex offenders.

National conveners are scheduled to present reports on economics and taxation, trades and professions for women, women and radio education, cinema and printed matter and national recreation.

Delegates suspended official visits Sunday to attend church service and visit the Saskatchewan Legislature and Royal Canadian Mounted Police barracks.

Later they attended a tea as guests of the Regina Council of Women, entertaining a national convention of the organization for the first time since 1919.

On Saturday, the council resolved that the Dominion government fulfill pledges made to Great Britain and Europe regarding food and material and that Canada increase its contributions until the United Nations sets up a committee to deal with the need.

The Dominion's proposed national health plan was commended, and the council asked that it be implemented as soon as possible.

Pink Flower Setting For Nuptial Rites

Pale pink peonies in tall white baskets decked Victoria Gospel Hall Saturday evening for the marriage of Miss Margaret Hughes Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, 1423 Fernwood Road, and John Wesley Woodford, 1092 Cloverdale Avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Woodford, Owen Sound, Ont. Rev. H. L. Hopkins conducted the rituals in which Mr. Stewart gave his daughter in marriage. She chose traditional satin, with wide lace panels on either side adding a note of importance to the full skirt with lace-trimmed train. Fine net cascaded to finger length from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress, and pastel roses and white carnations were showered in the bridal bouquet.

Whispering taffeta period gowns with shirred peplums over crinoline skirts were worn by Miss Jeanie Stewart, her sister's maid of honor; in peach; Miss Grace Swetnam and Miss Beatrice Shea in aqua, and little Marion Blakey, flower girl, in peach. All wore long net mitts and crownless hats to match their gowns.

Tobin Stewart, brother of the bride, stood with the groom as best man. Bill Wignmore, Clem Aitken, John Stewart and Angus Stewart ushered guests to their seats.

"The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Douglas Gill. Mrs. Margaret Gill played wedding music.

In the lower auditorium at Victoria Gospel Hall, 200 guests were received by the bride and groom assisted by Mrs. Stewart. The bride's toast was given by H. D. Rae and William Hamilton acted as master of ceremonies.

Pearl grey suit topped with green three-quarter length coat, crownless hat, black accessories and corsage bouquet of pink roses were worn by the bride for the honeymoon trip to Mt. Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodford will return to take up residence at 951 Falmouth Road.

Received Proficiency Award

Miss Mirth Doyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Doyle, Royal Oak, was awarded the Deputy Minister's medal for general proficiency at the recent nurses' graduation exercises at Provincial Mental Hospital, Essondale. Miss Doyle is well known in Victoria and the Saanich peninsula. She received her early education at St. Ann's Academy.

Barbara Thornton Takes Wedding Vows

White moire satin featuring sweetheart neckline, small buttons lined down the bodice front to a softly rippled peplum over full skirt with brief train, was worn by Miss Barbara Mary Thornton, daughter of Benjamin A. Thornton, Armstrong, B.C., as she entered Fairfield United Church on the arm of her uncle, Reginald G. Lewin, Saturday evening, to become the bride of Norman Trevor McClellan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lancelot M. McClellan, 163 Wildwood Avenue.

For her only jewelry, the bride wore a pearl necklace, gift of the groom, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and gardenias. Her veil, fingertip length, was held by a gardenia head-piece.

Miss Josephine M. Smith, Vancouver, was gowning in blue net over taffeta for her role as maid of honor. Miss Kathleen Lackey, bridesmaid, chose a similar gown in yellow. Both attendants wore identical tiaras and mitts in tone, and carried loose Colonial bouquets.

Lorne W. Johnson was groomsmen, and James F. Thornton, brother of the bride, and Arthur Davies were ushers.

Tall baskets of roses set the scene for service read by Rev. William Allan. Miss Marian Inglis sang "Love's Coronation," with Mrs. S. H. Darvill at the organ.

Archibald Kennedy, Nanaimo, proposed the toast to the bride, at a reception at Strathcona Hotel, Mrs. R. G. Lewin, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. McClellan received guests with the couple.

Yellow Point Lodge and Shawnigan Lake, will be honeymoon destinations of Mr. and Mrs. McClellan. The bride changed to an apple green suit of gabardine with winter-white topcoat, and wine accessories for traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. McClellan will reside in Victoria.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Pearl V. Stevenson, 1720 Fernwood Road, and the late W. J. Stevenson, was given in marriage by her brother, Robert James Stevenson. Miss F. E. Lancaster Weds 'Red' Dunaway

Miss Florence E. Lancaster, second-eldest daughter of B. Cox, Victoria, and the late Mrs. Cox, and Harold "Red" Dunaway, third eldest son of Mrs. Clara Dunaway, also of Victoria, and the late O. R. Dunaway, were united in marriage in a quiet ceremony May 31, in the manse of Metropolitan United Church. Rev. A. E. Whitehouse performed the ceremony.

A reception for family members and intimate friends was held at 1785 Ross Street. A three-tier cake, flanked by vases of sweet peas, was cut by the bride and groom. Mrs. Dunaway, wearing pale green with white accessories, assisted in receiving guests.

The bride chose smart white and black accessories and white off-the-face hat to accent her pale grey suit featuring cutaway jacket. Her corsage bouquet was of yellow roses and violas.

Miss Dreme Lancaster, attired in a dressmaker suit of winter-green, with corsage bouquet of roses, attended her sister. Lawrence Sutherland acted as best man.

The bride and groom are residing at 1785 Ross Street.

RIGHT TO INTERFERE WITH IDEAL WIFE

Dear Miss Dix: I am an ex-serviceman, with a wife and one child. Now after three years I have returned from the service and have my former job back, and we are very happy except for one thing. My mother expects me to pay her the same attentions as I did before I was married; to go to see her every day and to let her dominate me as she did when I was a child, and especially she feels that she has a right to rear our baby and run our home.

My wife is loyal and true, all that any man could wish for, but my mother continually finds fault with her and is forever coming to me with petty grievances, besides talking about her to friends of the family about the way she is raising the baby.

I am at a loss to know what to do. Let my mother nag me and break up my home? Or stand by my wife who has borne my child and who is helping me in every possible way, and whom I truly love? Mother is making a nervous wreck of my life as well as myself. Should I have the backbone to stand by my rights, that is my wife and child? Or should I give in to my mother? Whenever she is frustrated in anything she wants to do, she gets sick and has to go to bed.

A BEWILDERED SON.
Answer: When a man marries, his paramount duty is to his wife and children. There is no argument on that score. Particularly in your case are you bound by every consideration of honor and loyalty to stand by your wife, because she has been true and loyal to you and has committed no fault whatever.

HAPPINESS WRECKERS
I do not think that anything in life is sadder than the fact that so many selfish old women wreck the happiness of their children, break up homes, half orphan helpless little children, just to gratify their own whims. The cruellest, meanest person on earth couldn't do more harm, and yet these are pious old ladies who go to church and have the nerve to think they are Christians.

Take your own case. You have a wife you love and who loves you. You have a happy home. You have a little child. And all that your mother has against your wife is that she doesn't approve of the way she feeds the baby, and that she wants to keep the baby with her. Can't you see how weak and cowardly you will be if you give in to your mother's desire for domination when it will mean the wreck of your whole scheme of life? Don't do it. Have a frank talk with mother and tell her the

Pen Friends Needed For French Students

Mrs. H. D. Parizeau presided at a recent meeting of the Children of France Society and read a letter received from France in answer to her request for French pen friends for three Victoria students.

The letter stated there are many French students who would like to write to Canadian boys and girls and Mrs. Parizeau announced she would receive names of any Victoria students interested, care of the society, P.O. Box 843, Victoria, suggesting that in presenting their names they state age, grade, hobbies and father's occupation, so pen friends with common interests may be arranged.

Mrs. D. Kenny, work convener, reported 340 pounds of new and used clothing shipped to France in May, with one case being sent direct to a school in Paris where orphans from two to six years whose parents were killed in the gas chambers and concentration camps have been gathered together and given shelter.

COLUMBUS OF MEDICINE
A new field of scientific study was opened to man all because Antony van Leeuwenhoek had a hobby. His hobby was grinding glass lenses and, as his skill became greater, he began to explore the top limits of magnification. He took pleasure in looking through his fine lenses—and, in so doing, he discovered the existence of blood capillaries, red corpuscles and bacteria, discoveries which were to open a new important field of scientific study and to be of incalculable value to mankind. It was a new, vast continent of knowledge. Van Leeuwenhoek was its Christopher Columbus.

Thousands Attend Services To Honor War Dead

Those who paid the supreme sacrifice in the world wars, were honored by relatives and comrades Sunday at official Memorial Day services conducted under the trees in Beacon Hill Park, Pioneer Square and at four Greater Victoria burial parks and cemeteries.

Thousands of persons made up the two main gatherings, the ceremony of the Citizens' Memorial Day Committee of Greater Victoria at Beacon Hill and the special Canadian Scottish Regiment service colored by the skirling of the bagpipes, glengarries and the kilt in the park adjacent to Christ Church Cathedral.

The brass band of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, under Bandmaster Harry Bigsby, made its first appearance on the streets of the city and took part in both services, the pipe band under Pipe-Major Archie McMillan, complete with Wallace, St. Bernard mascot with a war record, only participating in the Pioneer Square event.

At the Scottish ceremony Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks, honorary colonel of the regiment, officiated at the unveiling of the newly-inscribed gravestone topped by a cross that came from Vimy Ridge.

Lt.-Col. R. D. Travis, commanding officer of 1st Battalion of the Scottish in the postwar Reserve Army, met Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Banks on arrival. Capt. H. S. C. Archbold was the Governor's aide.

FORMER HIGH-RANKING OFFICERS

In the fenced off portion of the park bearing the Scottish memorial were several former high officers of the regiment, including Col. Cy Peak, V.C., D.S.O.; Col. Lorne Ross, D.S.O., M.C.; Col. H. M. Urquhart, D.S.O., A.D.C.; Brig. Fred N. Cabeldu, C.B.E., D.S.C.; Lt.-Col. Cyril Wightman, Brig. John M. Rockingham, C.B.E., D.S.O.; Col. Travis, O.B.E., E.D.; Col. J. R. Kingham and Col. W. H. Parker.

Maj. J. Bailey, Revelstoke, a visitor, also stood with this group. Brig. Rockingham, president of the regimental association and chairman of the trustees of the memorial, placed the wreath from the regimental association on the gravestone. Ald. Cabeldu laid the city's floral tribute. Col. Peak the one for the association and Mrs. S. Button the wreath for the Canadian Scottish Women's Auxiliary, of which Mrs. S. J. McDonald is president.

Mrs. S. Button lost a son in one of the battles the "Fighting First" engaged in after "D-Day."

Capt. J. R. Wharbourton, adjutant, was in charge of arranging for Scottish participation in both shows. Capt. Hector Alexander commanded the Scottish on parade. Lieut. Dudley Stevens, second in command.

H.-Capt. G. A. Reynolds, chaplain of the regiment, conducted the service, stating that the names of the First Battalion dead of World War II would be added to the list already on the cross of those killed in the first world conflict. He was assisted by Rev. J. L. W. McLean, padre of the First Battalion during the early part of the 1939-45 war.

In uniform at the service were officers of the regiment who have signed for service in the postwar reserve unit. The service here was climaxed with Pipe-Maj. McMillan piping the lament "Flowers of the Forest."

BEACON HILL CEREMONY

Royal Canadian Navy and Royal Canadian Airforce contingents joined with a kilted company of Canadian Scottish Regiment for the service held at Beacon Hill Park, where Mayor Percy George told the 2,000 persons who attended that while there was no official national Memorial Day for war dead in Canada, the Greater Victoria committee had selected that day for the honoring of war heroes who paid the supreme sacrifice because it was nearest to the anniversary of "D-Day."

The Beacon Hill ceremony was opened with announcements by Rev. F. H. Godfrey, R.C.N., while Rev. G. L. Gillard, chaplain of the navy, gave the scripture lesson. H.-Capt. Reynolds said the prayers, while navy veteran Rev. William Hills gave the address. The Canadian Legion was well represented; the banners of all local branches being displayed.

During the program the Scottish brass band under Bandmaster Bigsby, rendered "O God Our Help in Ages Past," "I Know That My Redeemer Lives" and "For All the Saints."

The Beacon Hill hour-length

service was concluded with "The Last Post" and "Reveille," and benediction by Rev. G. L. Gordon.

The Scottish company and a large part of the gathering moved from here to Pioneer Square and other services held at Ross Bay Cemetery, Esquimalt Navy and Army cemeteries, Colwood Burial Park and Royal Oak Burial Park.

The town program was concluded with a march through the city streets to Bay Street Armories by the Scottish, led by the pipe band. At the Scottish headquarters, Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Banks were introduced to the leaders of the bands and Capt. Alexander by Lt.-Col. Travis.

ODD METHODS HAVE BEEN USED IN HOPE OF CAUSING RAIN

Many a time during a drought people have seen clouds floating overhead, but have learned that those clouds failed to send down any rain.

Some clouds are fleecy and adorn the sky, but give no help to the dry earth below. They float by at high levels, being from two to six miles above the ground. Often they are composed of ice crystals.

Dark rain clouds usually float at a height of about a mile. They are likely to provide a heavy downpour.

The famed cumulus clouds, of which the woolpack cloud is a common type, are thick and sometimes give forth rain. Often they are only half a mile high.

TRY TO COAX SHOWERS

People who have planted seeds may feel helpless when rain does not come, but a great number of men have tried to coax the heavens to supply a shower for growing crops. I am thinking of medicine men and magicians who have practiced their arts in countless places.

In Estonia, a small country which borders the Baltic Sea, it was an old custom for three men to climb up fir trees during a time of drought. One man would knock burning sticks together, making sparks which represented lightning.

Another man would beat on a kettle, and this was "thunder." The third man took a pail of water into another tree. After the sparks of "lightning" flashed and after the kettle-made "thunder" sounded, the third man would empty his pail of water on the ground.

Within a day or two after that magical storm, there might be a real story, in which case the magicians would say that their efforts had brought results!

STRANGE METHOD IN INDIA

People in India tried to bring rain long ago by rubbing a black horse (sign of a black cloud) with a black cloth. The rubbing was kept up until the horse neighed.

Dark-skinned natives of south-eastern Africa have been watched as they took jars of water from a river and then walked into a field. Tossing the water into the air they made believe that they were causing rain to come down. Of course this work could never make a difference about the time of a real rain, but at least the crops were sprinkled a bit.

A savage tribe in Sumatra also makes war on dry spells in a strange manner. The women carry water around in bowls and throw it on those they meet. The men use bamboo tubes as squirt-guns. This may be done over a period of several days. It produces sport, even if it fails to produce rain.

SNOWFALL MADE BY SCIENCE

Not long ago a test was made by scientists with the purpose of bringing a snowfall. This was an actual success. Snow came falling down after "dry ice" was spread through a cloud formation.

If snow can be made to fall, it is only a question of time before we shall be able to cause clouds to empty their rain. The time may come when it will be a common thing for rains to be produced in places where they are needed.

Oak Bay Playground Group Elects Officers

Annual meeting of the Oak Bay Playground Committee was held in the Municipal Hall.

Election of officers resulted in the appointment of Eric Greville-Jones, chairman; Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, secretary; and Dr. Roy Johnson, treasurer. A committee of nine former members was chosen, with power to augment their number to 15.

Mrs. L. J. Clark and Mrs. W. E. Cockell were appointed supervisors. Two playgrounds will be operated in July at Willows Park and Windsor Park or Monterey School. The playground hours will be 10 to 12 and 130 to 430 every week day except Wednesday and Saturday, when the playground will be closed in the afternoon.

used gramophone, tumbling mats, softball bat and gloves, shuffle board, quoits, croquet, and used gramophone records.

A playground film was shown by D. B. Gregson of the Oak Bay Community Centre.

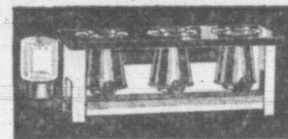

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from any drugstore and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the more tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your drugstore will gladly return your money.

Indian Paintings On Display Here

This ambitious painting is the work of 16-year-old Indian boys, Bernard George and Henry Jones, attending the Christie Indian School at Kakawis, northern Vancouver Island. It depicts the Nootkans, the only Indians who went out and got their whales. Other tribes waited until the mammal was washed ashore.

Two paintings by Judith Phyllis Morgan, which have been praised by local artists and Indian crafts experts. At the left is a picture of the artist's grandfather, while the other depicts a ceremonial dance drawn from memory.

as a "discovery" with talent above average. Maj. T. Tayler, local artist, as well as visiting Indian crafts experts, also enthused over the paintings.

Miss Morgan, a member of the Tsimshian tribe on the Nanas River, has been under the tutelage of George N. Sinclair, a former art superintendent for the Saanich schools.

Miss Morgan's paintings will be shown along with 50 other children's exhibits depicting native designs and Indian subjects.

which were composed from actual family recollections and from memory of ancestral dances.

Mr. Pickford says it is the most ambitious exhibition of its kind ever shown in the city. The exhibition, sponsored by the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society of Victoria, will be opened by Lieutenant-Governor C. A. Banks at 3 Tuesday afternoon.

"This is the fourth exhibition of its kind," said Mr. Pickford. "We are making real progress."

It proves beyond doubt that our native Indians have an inherent artistic sense which can be developed under proper supervision.

Most of the paintings come from the Christie Indian School at Kakawis, situated at the north end of Vancouver Island, and the residential school at Port Alberni. The Alberni school is attended by Indians from various west coast settlements, including members of the Tsimshian tribe.

A scholarship will be awarded to the winner.

A. Edmonds, Victoria School Board, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Taylor, representing the parents' committee.

Acting as chairman was Victor Van Slyke, president of the Students' Council, who proposed the toast to the King. Grace was said by Edith Lee. The toast to the guests was given by Patricia Emery and replied to by Mr. English. Toast to the graduating class was given by Ruby Hamman, last year's president of the Students' Council, who announced the presentation of a cup for academic achievement. Donald Robinson made the reply.

Introduced by the principal Eric Forster, Prof. E. S. Farr stressed the fact that each graduate was about to take his place in a world where barriers no longer existed and that each would be called upon to uphold justice and tolerance.

Plans selections by Joan Roberts were followed by the valedictory, given by Doreen Rouse.

The evening closed with a dance at the Crystal Garden.

Paintings of 17-year-old Indian girl, Judith Phyllis Morgan, attending the Indian residential school at Port Alberni, has aroused the interest of local artists who previewed some of her works which will be shown at an Indian school children art exhibition at the Provincial Museum June 10.

Blame For High Prices Placed On Number Of Factors

By American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N.J.—Whom are the American people blaming for present high prices?

No one is to blame in the opinion of less than half of voters who express an opinion. But the rest all have some scapegoat in mind for the high cost of living.

More people blame the government and business and industry than any other single factor, a coast-to-coast poll by the Institute finds. But labor unions also come in for a share of the criticism, being blamed for jacking up the cost of labor.

Other factors are named too; indeed, the variety is such as to indicate that there is no decided focusing of blame at present on any one specific thing.

The issue of who if anybody is to blame for high prices was put to the American voters in the following fashion by the Institute:

"Do you blame anyone for present high prices?"

The vote: Yes, 49 per cent; no, 41 per cent, no opinion, 10 per cent.

Those who said "Yes" were then asked: "Whom do you blame?"

The replies fall into the following main categories: Business and industry are to blame 16 per cent, government 15 per cent, labor unions or leaders 10 per cent, war is to blame 1 per cent, farmers are to blame 1 per cent, everyone's fault 7 per cent, miscellaneous answers 5 per cent.

The table totals more than 49 per cent because some people named more than one factor.

Most of the people who say business and industry are to blame single out manufacturers and producers, but a few include wholesalers and retailers as the culprits.

CANADIAN RADIO NEEDS FREEDOM TO GROW UP

Canadians are taking a lively interest in what goes into microphones in Canada's radio studios. That's because what goes into Canadian microphones comes out through loud speakers in Canadian homes. And that is why radio broadcasting is everybody's business—your business.

Right now the people who are trying to give you better and better radio programs are often handicapped by a "crazy-quilt" of rules and regulations and directives and legal what-nots. Many of Canada's radio laws have been handed down from government to government, from the days when radio was in the crystal-set stage. The laws have not kept pace with radio progress. They should be studied and overhauled so that there is nothing in them to prevent good Canadian programs from finding the widest possible audience.

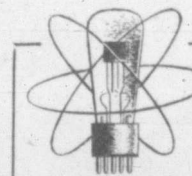

Canadian broadcasters find it impossible to make definite plans for the future. The Government and its Broadcasting Corporation has the authority to make the rules and regulations for the independent broadcasters. They can say what shall and shall not go on the air. They have the power to cancel broadcasting licenses without cause and without a hearing. They can deny network privileges to any but the programs they choose.

These are only a few examples of the unsound laws which govern broadcasting in Canada today. You can see how they prevent fair and free competition; how they can discourage able people from seeking a career in Canadian broadcasting.

Because radio is something which lives with the people, it must always be carefully supervised and controlled. But in the interests of all listeners, now and in the future, we believe it should be supervised by an independent regulatory body—rather than the "Government-of-the-day".

These simple, basic changes are needed now so that Canadian radio will have freedom to grow up.

Sign Of Fairy Ring In Many Lawns
Now Spreads Rapidly; Action Needed

The sign of the Fairy Ring and toadstools are now showing up in many lawns. This is one of only two very serious troubles that attack our lawns here but is very prevalent in this climate. Because it spreads so rapidly and easily, not only during a season but from year to year, steps should be taken to control it at its first appearance.

From the toadstools, fruiting spores mature and can "blow" from your neighbor's lawn and from yours to theirs, causing the brown "ring" to spring up when they fall on suitable lawn surfaces. The white mycelium of this fungus adheres mostly to the roots of Bent and Red Top grass, traveling underground and killing the plants.

THE LEGEND

Each year new gardeners and readers ask "Why is it called 'fairy ring'?" Legend tells us a story of the brown "ring" appearing overnight, caused by the many feet of the fairies, dancing in a "ring" on the gift of the full moon. The appearance of the toadstools at the edge of their worn path, are said to be the seats of the elf and goblin audience. There is no scientific explanation or reason for the well defined ring in which the disease travels. . . just another course of nature's marvels for which we don't understand the why and wherefor.

A word of explanation as to the cause of the circular growth of this and other fungi might here be in order.

Dr. George W. Fischer says: "This fungus is perennial in the soil. It is said that it may persist for hundreds of years."

"In the first place there is usually noticed dark green circular areas from one to several or more feet in diameter. At certain times of the year the outer edge of these circular areas has numerous, small, light brown, small toadstools. These are the fruiting bodies of the fungus causing the fairy ring disease. They are small and slightly toughish, but are edible. They are composed of a stalk and a cap and each cap produces hundreds of thousands of spores. These spores are the seeds of the 'fairy ring' fungus. They are so small that it would take about 4,000 spores laid end-to-end to make an inch. The outer edge of the fairy ring, where the toadstools or mushrooms are produced usually is composed of more vigorous, darker green grass than is to be found in the centre. This is because the fungus, which is more active in this outer edge stimulates the grass, due to the fact that at the advancing margin nitrogen compounds are released which are converted by soil bacteria into nitrates, and thus fertilizes the grass. The fairy ring fungus grows in the form of minute threads, millions of them, which slowly advance outward and the result is a ring, ever increasing in size. As the fungus advances it nearly exhausts the food materials in the soil and it is no wonder, therefore, that the grass in the interior of these rings is half dead or sometimes entirely dead."

SPOILS LARGE SECTIONS

If no action is taken to control the ring, it spreads outward quickly, attacking the roots of the grass and often spoiling large sections of the lawn.

Since the mushroom is able to continue "ripening" its fruiting spores after it is picked, good care is necessary to prevent its accidental spread. Any one of these toadstool mushrooms is capable of producing many thousands of fruiting spores which, when they come to rest on certain grass plants, continue their life's cycles.

CAREFUL DISPOSAL

Never run a lawn mower over them or accidentally break one off. Whenever any mushrooms appear, they should be pulled carefully and disposed of. If they are not desired for table use, they should be placed very deep in the compost pile or pit, or better yet, burned in the furnace or stove.

Every toadstool which is carefully removed from your's or your neighbor's lawn, means the disposal of many chances for Fairy Ring next season.

The cure is based on the fact that the growth, as well as the adjacent toadstools, are allergic to copper and iron. Sulphate of iron, iron oxide (iron filings when they are available) can both be used. However, the most convenient material is a good copper fungicide, (use the same instructions on bottle as are given for roses), or permanganate of potash (one teaspoon to a gallon of water). You will probably have one or both of these among your garden supplies for other spraying purposes. Other materials which do a good preventive job are Tersan and corrosive sublimate.

PUT ON EARLY IN DAY.

Whichever of these materials you have on hand, spray it over the entire lawn area, in the early morning while the grass is still damp. It is not enough to treat the affected area. As previously explained the minute white threads of the fungus have progressed from 12-18 inches beyond the "ring" and must also be treated.

This is a very simple preventive measure. One or two applications each fall and spring will keep a lawn quite safe. If the spray is applied at the first appearance of the fairy ring it will tend to deter it but the preventive measure is the only satisfactory control. Lawns that are planted in soil containing pieces of rotted fir stumps are claimed to be especially susceptible and perhaps an extra spraying would be safer.

Copper or iron sprayed on the lawn enters into the soil and creates a condition in which the mycelium of the fungus disease cannot spread. Thus an annual application of the copper or iron will sustain this soil condition and prevent the disease "taking hold."

WELL-FED LAWNS

Lawns grown from a mixture containing Fescues and Poas (Blue Grasses) are much better able to withstand this fungus. Well fertilized lawns that are fed "little-and-often" are much less susceptible.

Permanganate of potash as a treatment seems to have given excellent results, using a teaspoonful to each gallon of water. A Mr. Bentley, who has used this method for years, asks me to add these notes:

1. Dissolve the material 48 hours before using.
2. Make 3-4 applications a year, as a preventive treatment.
3. Permanganate is a powerful antiseptic which eliminates the Sod Web Worm larvae.
4. It contains manganese and potash, which are also good grass fertilizers.
5. Use charcoal in the soil before planting the lawn or as a top dressing. It will eliminate certain soil acids and thus assist in containing fairy ring spread.

New Soapless VEL
Marvelous For Dishes

by Frances Thompson
noted homemaking authority

Nobody likes doing dishes, but there is now a new product called VEL that certainly makes the inevitable job a whole lot easier and quicker.

UNLIKE SOAP

VEL is not soap—it's a soapless discovery. Its quick-forming foamy suds don't last—they're not meant to. But the CLEAR water remaining in dishpan or sink is the very thing which makes glasses and china sparkle and so quickly cleans the porridge pot and roasting pan—the two bugaboos of dishwashing. What is more, dishes washed in VEL and given a quick rinse will dry themselves without streaking. It's amazing how VEL cuts the grease and leaves little if any scum on the sides of your sink. If necessary a tiny sprinkling of dry VEL on the dishcloth, then a quick rub-around, will make the sink or dishpan gleam. And, incidentally, VEL is very kind to the hands.

VERY LITTLE VEL NEEDED

Frankly, at first we were skeptical of VEL for we missed the heavy dishpan suds produced by soap. In error, we added more, but now know that a very little VEL goes a long way. . . and that VEL keeps on cleaning long after the suds dissolve. A teaspoonful or two of VEL is usually plenty in a dishpanful of water. Add a little more for larger sinks or very greasy pans.

Newhouser, Feller In Brilliant Form

Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics were convinced today that they were the victims of a colossal hoax. They had heard reports that Hal Newhouser of Detroit and Bob Feller of Cleveland, the two premier pitchers in baseball, were nearing the end of their trail.

Unless it was a mirage, the Red Sox and Athletics players who had to meet Hal and Bob face to face Sunday can testify that off Sunday's performance, they still are the two best hurlers in the game.

Newhouser, who prior to yesterday's outing showed a record of only five wins against six losses, turned in his best mound effort of the year in shutting out the Red Sox 5 to 0. He allowed only four hits.

Feller went Newhouser one hit better by limiting the Athletics to three singles in blanking them 2 to 0 in the second game of a doubleheader. The A's, behind the four-hit hurling of Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., won the opener 4 to 0.

Feller, the major league's strikeout king, whiffed five to increase his season's total to 75, two behind the front-running Newhouser, and registered his seventh win.

New York Yankees were lucky to get away with a split as they came from behind in the late innings to nip St. Louis 5 to 4. The Missourians, with Les Moss, Vern Stephens, Wally Judnich and Al Zarilla banging for home runs, won the opener 9 to 2.

Washington and Chicago White Sox played through 18 innings before the Senators emerged with a 1 to 0 victory in the first game of a doubleheader at Chicago. The White Sox won the second game 8 to 2. Not only was the opener the longest game of the 1947 season, but it tied the major league record for the longest 1 to 0 game ever played. Washington's winning run resulted from catcher Al Evans' triple and a run-scoring fly by Sherry Robertson.

Walter Masterson twirled 16 scoreless innings for the Nats but was not credited with the victory as Early Wynn relieved him in the 17th.

Philadelphia Phils and Pittsburgh Pirates divided a doubleheader in Philadelphia. Dutch Leonard gained his seventh triumph against two losses by pitching the Phils to a 5 to 2 win in the opener. Ralph Kiner, National League's home run champion, belted his second round tripper of the day to give the Pirates a 5 to 4 win in the nightcap.

Baseball Fans Start Voting On All-Star Line-ups

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball fans in North America go to bat to select their own favorites for the major league all-star game at Wrigley Field, July 8, in a three-week poll conducted by 152 newspapers, radio stations and magazines.

The voting for the eight top players, exclusive of pitchers, in both the American and National Leagues, is to continue in 42 states, the District of Columbia, Canada, Hawaii, Panama and among overseas troops until midnight, June 26.

Each agency is to conduct its poll in its own manner, but all tabulations will be handled by the Chicago Tribune, which as the ballot sponsors will serve as the clearing-house for the project.

It is the first time since 1935 that the fans have had their own say about the all-star selections, both leagues naming their own line-ups for 10 of the 13 games played to date.

The pitchers will be picked by manager Joe Cronin of Boston Red Sox, who will handle the American League team, and Eddie Dyer of St. Louis Cardinals, who will boss the National Leaguers.

The Tribune originated the all-star game in 1933 as a feature of the world's fair in Chicago and in that inaugural poll rounded up more than 500,000 fan voters.

Mangrum Shoots 66 To Win Open Golf

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lloyd Mangrum, who hadn't won a major golf tournament since the United States open a year ago, shot a sparkling six-under-par 66 Sunday to win the $10,000 Capital open.

Mangrum's four-day total was 269, 19 under par and three strokes better than any other. He collected $2,000 first-place money.

Tied for second at 272 were Skip Alexander of Lexington, N.C., and Ed Oliver of Wilmington, Del.

Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa, finished with a 273, tied for fourth place with George Payton of Hampton, Va., and Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va.

Entrants To Be Graded In Police July Revolver Shoot

With indications pointing to one of the biggest entries in the history of the classic, Detective John Lund, secretary of the Victoria City Police Revolver Club, reported today that plans are near completion for the annual two-day revolver shooting tournament at the Thetis Lake range on July 8 and 9.

As in previous years invitations to send teams and individuals to participate have gone to clubs throughout the Pacific Northwest and the expectation is a strong entry from the cities of the state of Washington to give the meet international flavor.

Biggest change in the 1947 program—and one that will be greeted with expressions of approval—is the fact that crack, medium and just novice shots will not be thrown into the same pool to compete against each other.

Detective Lund reports that all contestants for the competition are to be placed in six categories—master, expert, sharpshooter, marksman first class, marksman and tyro.

An impressive array of around 80 handsome prizes have been secured for the shoot.

The two-day agenda of events is made up of 14 individual and team competitions, firing to commence at 9 each day.

No Rain Damage To Berries

The amount of rain from the drizzle, showers and cloudbursts of the week-end totaled .18 inch, the Dominion Meteorological Observatory reported this morning.

Thunder was recorded only once during the week-end—on Saturday at 4.55.

The rain caused much concern to strawberry growers but no extensive damage has been reported.

C. M. Smith, area supervisor of the Dominion Provincial Farm Labor Office here, said his office had received no word that any damage had been done to the strawberry crop. He said two bus loads of pickers had been sent out to the farms this morning.

While too much rain softens the ripe berries, they can be sold as jam berries.

Mr. Smith reiterated his statement of last week: "If we have warm weather during the next few days, the strawberry season will reach its peak by the middle of the week."

Anglican Camp Opens

Camp Columbia, the holiday camp of the Church of England on Thetis Island, near Lady-smith, opened today with a conference of the clergy.

During the summer months the camp will be open to all local Anglican Church groups. Junior boys, junior girls, senior boys, senior girls and church laymen will each have a week's stay at the camp. Also, the camp will be available for A.Y.P.A. groups during week-ends.

During the week of June 22, persons selected to act as leaders at following camps will be given training in their work.

One leader and a chaplain will attend each camp. There is a chapel and a hospital on the camp site.

During their stay at the camp, the various groups will participate in recreational and religious activities.

Each camp will accommodate

40. The junior boys' and junior girls' camps are fully registered, but there are still a few vacancies in the other camps.

Hockey Broadcaster Coming Here June 13

Foster Hewitt, the "hello Canada" man of the National Hockey League, is now on a tour of the western Canadian provinces and will visit Victoria on June 13.

His visit has nothing to do with his sports broadcasts. He is making the tour as president of the Upper Canada Old Boys' Association in the interest of the Upper Canada College, Ontario.

His visit here will be marked by a luncheon meeting at the Union Club, at which he will be guest speaker. Old Boys, residents or visitors of Victoria, are invited to attend. Reservations for the luncheon can be made by contacting Eric Pepler, E1460, or William Patterson, G1847.

Franco Orders Vote On New Law For Spanish Succession

MADRID (AP) — Generalissimo Franco decreed today a national referendum on his regime and eventual return of the monarchy—but no freedom of the press, speech, assembly or other facilities for discussion of the questions involved.

The vote, July 6, will be the first election in Spain since that held in February, 1936, under the Republic.

The referendum will be by "Yes" or "No" vote on the law of succession approved by the Cortes (parliament) Saturday. This law declares Franco Chief of State and Spain a kingdom, and provides for a king or regent to succeed to power in the event of the death or incapacitation of Franco. Also, Franco is given the right to name his successor if he retires.

Eligibility to vote is based on the electoral census made a year ago. The decree providing for that census barred all persons sentenced to prison and presuming denied the franchise to those charged with political crimes. The Spanish underground declares 1,750,000 persons have been sentenced by the Franco regime for political offences.

Municipal districts will count the votes, which will be announced by heads of the voting boards on the referendum day. The ballots will be burned by the local boards immediately after the count.

MAY BE IMPRISONED

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Rev. Zacarias P. Carles, director of the Spanish Christian Mission in Toronto, said in an interview here Saturday that in Spain "anyone who is a Protestant Christian can be put in prison or shot as a traitor to the state."

Mr. Carles, who said he escaped from Spain under sentence of death, said:

"Roman Catholics only are accepted. It is said that the one who is not a Roman Catholic is not a good Spaniard. Anyone who is a Protestant Christian can be put in prison or shot as a traitor to the state. Of 7,000, about 1,000 have been put to death during these days of persecution."

Concert Of Artistic Appeal Is Enjoyed

The Beethoven Choral Club, assisted by advanced pupils of Prof. J. B. Hoffman, presented an enjoyable grand concert in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

The program of artistic appeal opened with Johann Strauss' "Greeting to Spring," and was followed by favorite works of Victor Herbert, arranged by D. McLean. Misses Jean Dumerton and K. Paulin and Thomas Crabbe were soloists. Miss Mary Renaud and Florence Plater were at the piano. Thomas Price, baritone, and Miss Irene Byatt, contralto, gave solos. Proceeds went to the Solarium.

A must for teen-agers—keep away from a too dark lipstick; the best shade is a clean, bright red or flower-fresh pink.

Government, Taxpayers Go 50-50 On New Schools Plan

If taxpayers of Victoria vote in favor of the School Loan By-law on June 19, they will share evenly with the provincial government in providing the best in new schools, equipment and sites for the children, J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools for Greater Victoria, said today.

The taxpayers and government of the province will be in partnership on the issue, because 50 per cent of the cost of the proposed building program will be borne by the B.C. government," he said. "For every dollar spent on new schools, equipment and sites, the government contributes 50 cents."

Gross cost of the program for the Greater Victoria District being $3,913,825, cost to the taxpayers will be half that sum of $1,956,912."

Prior to the implemation of the Cameron Report in April of 1946, there was no government grant in cities such as Victoria and Vancouver for new buildings, Mr. English said.

"However, in accordance with the Public Schools Act of this province and amendments as of April, 1946, the government, by statute pays one-half the cost of new schools, building and equipment, always provided of course, that the school plans have been first approved by the Department of Education and the deputy minister of municipalities," he continued.

In so far as the program for Greater Victoria is concerned, all plans have been received and approved by the Department of Education, Mr. English said.

300 Participate In Scout Rally

More than 300 Scouts from all Greater Victoria troops took part in the annual Scout rally, which was held Saturday afternoon at the Douglas Street Park, Beacon Hill.

Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks, in the uniform of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, of which he is an honorary colonel, took the salute and the grand march past. Following the march past, the Lieutenant-Governor was introduced to all troop leaders.

A presentation was made to Cub Mistress Jean Parker for eight years' continuous service with one Cub pack. During the eight-year period, Miss Parker has missed only one meeting. Lieutenant-Governor Banks made the presentation.

Macgregor Macintosh, who will represent Victoria at the World Scout Jamboree, to be held in France and who is leader of the Oak Bay Troop, broke the flag on the arrival of the Lieutenant-Governor.

Mayor Percy George and representatives of the three municipal councils also attended. Maj. H. B. Hunter, D.S.O., district commissioner, and Freeman King, field commissioner, were in charge of the rally.

During the afternoon, competitions were held between Scouts from different troops in all phases of fieldcraft. Competition results were:

Knotting, North Quadra Troop; firefighting, Mount Toimie Troop; signaling, Tillicum Troop; map reading, Third Victoria Troop; estimations, Fairfield Troop; lifeline throwing, Mount Toimie Troop; first aid, Mount Toimie Troop; compass reading, Third Victoria Troop; tree identification, Third Victoria Troop; ex-emption, Mount Toimie Troop; lashing, North Quadra Troop.

Lieutenant-Governor C. A. Banks will open the Indian Arts Exhibition at the Provincial Museum tomorrow afternoon at 3. The exhibition features over 50 paintings done by Indian School children throughout the province. The winner of the best painting will be awarded a $150 scholarship, contributed by the University Women's Club.

Nearly 250 delegates to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association convention at Banff, who arrived here Sunday for a two-day visit to Vancouver Island, motored today to Fairbridge Farm School.

Nearly 100 of the 350 expected to come canceled the trip. The remainder came here on the Princess Charlotte and stayed overnight at the Empress Hotel.

This evening there will be a reception in the lower lounge followed by dinner in the hotel's ballroom where A. E. Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., will give an address on "The Direction In Which We Are Going."

The delegates leave again for Vancouver tonight aboard the Charlotte.

Post Office Looted

HUDDERSFIELD, Yorkshire, Eng. (Reuter) — About $8,000 ($32,000) in notes, silver and stamps was stolen from the central general post office here Sunday.

S. R. Duclos, 788 Hillside Avenue, reported to city police yesterday that a table saw motor, valued at $50, had been stolen from a house under construction at 1038 Kings Road between June 2 and 6. There was no sign of entry.

Music Store Head Says Piano Supply Shows Improvement

Walter Fletcher, president of Fletcher Bros. Limited, who returned Friday from a business trip in the east, where he attended the National Association of Music Merchants convention in Chicago, reported today, that for the first time since the war, there was an adequate showing of merchandise.

Production has greatly increased in eastern plants and the musical instrument situation, including pianos is definitely improving, he said.

"It was apparent from the many displays of pianos and musical instruments, that the variety which featured pre-war exhibitions would soon be on the market again," Mr. Fletcher said.

There were 5,500 delegates attending the convention held in the Palmer House in Chicago, he said, adding that four entire floors of the hotel were used for displays of merchandise.

Discussing the piano situation, Mr. Fletcher said he had sufficient for the demand at the present time, but added that all dealers were still on a quota. He felt, however, that the situation was improving.

"We are receiving regular shipments of Heintzman, Nordheimer and LeSage pianos from prominent American manufacturers," Mr. Fletcher continued.

"I spent a great deal of time going through the entire General Electric plant at Toronto, Peterborough and Barrie and also the R.C.A. Victor factory in Montreal," he said. "I was greatly impressed with the magnitude and number of factories. Production has been greatly increased with the use of huge plants previously used for manufacture of war goods."

Car Breaks 'Phone Pole, No Injuries

The car, according to Saanich police, was driven by Paul Bumgarner, soldier of the Fort Warden medical branch, Washington, and his passenger was another soldier from the same fort, Calvin E. Mickelson. Both escaped injury. The impact severed the telephone pole.

Damage to the car is estimated between $200 and $300.

Reds Would Buy Hungarian-U.S. Oil Company Or Expel Officers

BUDAPEST (AP) — The Communists have offered to buy out the Hungarian-American oil company Maort, a U.S. informant said today, and have threatened to banish from Hungary the company's American executives.

The informant said the Communists were considering nationalization of the country's oil fields—as they contemplate nationalization of banks and industry—but were faced with the fact that Russia gets half the Hungarian royalties of Maort.

Russia obtained half of the Hungarian royalties last year in negotiations which set up a Russian-Hungarian oil company called Maszovol.

The informant, and leading Hungarian political observers agreed it would be only a matter of time before the new Communist-dominated Hungarian regime—rushed into office with the resignation of Prime Minister Ferenc Nagy—took action on Maort. The company was developed and is principally owned by Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) Inc.

One American gave this account: Deputy Prime Minister Matyas Rakosi, Russian citizen and Russian-trained politician who now is virtual dictator of Hungary, spent part of last week in the area of Maort's fields on a speaking tour to inform Hungarian workers of the "true facts" of the Hungarian government change.

During this trip Rakosi spoke with Paul Ruedemann of New York, representative here of Standard Oil, and "offered twice Standard's original investment" if the Americans would get out.

The offer of roughly $5,000,000 was refused and Rakosi was informed that a German offer of $25,000,000 for the same properties had been turned down at the beginning of the war.

CLARIFICATION ASKED

LONDON (AP) — The British Ambassador in Moscow has been instructed to obtain clarification of Soviet policy towards Hungary, the House of Commons was informed today.

Meantime, Hector McNeil, Minister of State, said, "It would be premature for His Majesty's Government to pass judgment on what has happened."

He expressed hope that "these changes in the structure of the Hungarian government will not lead to any departure from the principles of parliamentary democracy."

"Any such developments could not fail to have serious repercussions upon Anglo-Hungarian relations," he added in a written reply to questions.

WANT PLAIN STATEMENT

He said Ambassador Sir Maurice Peterson had been instructed to discuss the question with the Soviet government and "to obtain an elucidation of what has occurred in Hungary."

Earlier a Foreign Office spokesman had told reporters that Britain had sent to Washington its comments on the draft of a United States State Department note to Russia which, it is reported, will propose a joint U.S.-Russian-British inquiry into the Hungarian political situation.

Ship's company of R.C.S.C. Rainbow will parade at headquarters Friday at 7.30, according to orders issued for the week by Lieut. C. R. Powell, R.C.S.C. commanding officer.

British Traders Support Opinion Of Bevin Prices Begin To Loosen

LONDON (Reuter)—Experienced traders here are inclined to endorse Foreign Secretary Bevin's optimism that "the very serious tightness in world prices and trade is just beginning to loosen."

Some commodities, notably rubber, hides and coffee, have changed with almost dramatic suddenness from sellers' to buyers' markets, and many others, which now look tight, may follow. The prospects that they will be regarded as the brightest for a long time.

This question of inflation and scarcities seems in fact the common ground between the statements made Thursday by Bevin and State Secretary Marshall of the United States.

PAYING FOR IMPORTS

Marshall noted many European governments are being forced to use their foreign money to import necessities which their own farmers refuse to deliver.

Shortage of imports from North America affects the holding attitude of producers elsewhere. If, for example, any one of the grains becomes abundant in Europe—as they are unquestionably abundant in the western hemisphere—producers of many goods in Europe, Latin America and Asia would soon become afraid of missing their market.

Russia is regarded in the United States as the big bear of the markets. From Stalin's statements and other indications, many Americans, rightly or wrongly, are convinced that Russia's policy is based on the belief the western world is heading for an economic breakdown, led by the United States.

Three news items of related significance came from Argentina and Brazil, the two countries which ended the war in the strongest dollar position. Brazil imposed new controls on hard currencies (significantly including sterling as well as dollars and the previously recognized hard currencies) to conserve exchange for essential imports.

BIG GOLD SHIPMENT

From Argentina the United States received the biggest air shipment of gold ever received from anywhere, designed to obtain dollars for Argentine imports. And Argentina altered her exchange rate on imported auto-

Reserves For Wharves

The provincial government by order-in-council has reserved for the Dominion government two plots of land for wharf purposes on the B.C. coast.

Near Bella Coola, 6.85 acres have been reserved on which the federal government plans to erect a wharf.

At Evans Bay, Read Island, 0.61 acres has been reserved as an approach for a Dominion government float.

At the same time the government has canceled the reserves, set up in 1942 and 1943, on lands on Ridley Island, for national defence purposes, except for a lot and right-of-way for a trail to the southwest of Canoe Pass in the northwest section of the island.

mobiles in a way which will raise their prices to Argentine buyers by about a sixth.

But Argentina and Brazil are big producers of primary essentials, enough to tip the scale between inflation and deflation in the world markets. Argentine wheat shipments in the last two weeks seem to have been the biggest for any two-week period since the outbreak of war.

Such developments, not likely to be confined to Latin America, could turn the tide.

'Humoresque' Big Feature At Royal

Warner Bros. screen adaptation of Fannie Hurst's celebrated story, "Humoresque," starring Joan Crawford and John Garfield, is the current attraction on the Royal screen. Produced by Jerry Wald, the dramatic film relates the moving story of a concert violinist's conflict between a woman and his career.

Oscar Levant appears as Sid Jeffers, a pianist with a sardonic wit. J. Carrol Nash portrays Paul's understanding father and Ruth Nelson is seen as his mother who bitterly resents the interest Helen Wright shows in her son.

'The Red House' Showing At Plaza

The old saying "there's always a first time," was amply illustrated during the filming of Sol Lesser's "The Red House," currently at the Plaza Theatre through United Artists release. In fact, there was a veritable epidemic of first time experiences for members of the cast, staff and crew.

It was the first time on location for Edward G. Robinson. During his 15 years on the screen, the veteran actor once worked a week in a picture filmed off the shores of Catalina Island, but returned each night to the comfort of his Beverly Hills home. This marked his first protracted trip away from home.

Mystery-Chiller Coming To Dominion

"The Beast With Five Fingers," Warner Bros. new suspenseful drama of murder and mystery, starring Robert Alda, Andrea King and Peter Lorre, will have its local premiere tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre. Also featured in the large supporting cast are Victor Francen, J. Carrol Nash and many others.

Produced for Warners by William Jacobs and directed by Robert Florey, "The Beast With Five Fingers" was adapted for the screen by Curt Siodmak from an original story by William Fryer Harvey.

'13 Rue Madeleine' Espionage Picture

Twentieth Century-Fox's exciting, action-packed adventure story, "13 Rue Madeleine," stars James Cagney at the Atlas Theatre today.

With Annabella, Richard Conte and Frank Latimore in featured roles, the picture unfolds one of the most astounding adventures ever screened—a taut and suspenseful story of espionage behind enemy lines, a saga of daring and of exploits against fearful odds unlike anything ever before filmed.

'The Outlaw' Now York Attraction

Howard Hughes' discovery, Jane Russell, appears in "The Outlaw," playing at the York Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday, which is one of the most daring and talked-of pictures in motion picture history. It is strictly adult entertainment and no children under 16 will be admitted.

Andy Hardy Story On Capitol Screen

Bonita Granville resumes her role as Andy Hardy's sweetheart in the first postwar picture of the popular Hardy Family series, "Love Laughs at Andy Hardy," at the Capitol Theatre today.

Miss Granville first came into Rooney's life as a glamorous college frosh in "Andy Hardy's Blonde Trouble," the last picture of the series filmed before Rooney's entrance into the service.

Miss Granville, who was a child star in Hollywood in the days when Rooney, too, was a juvenile performer, now has grown from her early "brat" roles into a sophisticated young leading lady.

TOKYO (AP)—The body of an American woman, believed to have relatives in Canada, was found by Japanese police early today beside a road six miles from the centre of Tokyo, and United States criminal investigation division agents began an immediate search for "the possible murderer or murderers."

C.I.D. agents refused to discuss their investigation. Other sources said there were two bullet holes in the woman's head.

Allied headquarters said no firearms were found in the vicinity of the body.

Headquarters declined to identify the woman, except to say she was a War Department civilian employee, pending notification of next-of-kin.

However, United States army sources said an autopsy was performed today on the body of Brocha Lvova, 33, Russian-born U.S. citizen from New York. She had been missing since Sunday night and her companions had been questioned by the C.I.D., these sources said.

Information available here said Miss Lvova had a sister, Myrna Pasternick, Toronto, and an aunt, Mrs. L. Mosekon of Harbin, Manchuria. Her father is reported to be living in Canada.

Records here indicated she arrived in Japan last August and was assigned to the language section of the international prosecution section. She spoke Russian. At the end of last year, Miss Lvova took a position with the reparations section of headquarters' economic and scientific section.

TO RETURN TO U.S.

TORONTO (CP)—Brocha Lvova, whose death is being investigated in Tokyo, planned to return to the United States in August, her sister, Mrs. Myrna Pasternick, said here today.

Mrs. Pasternick said she had not received official notification of the death of her sister.

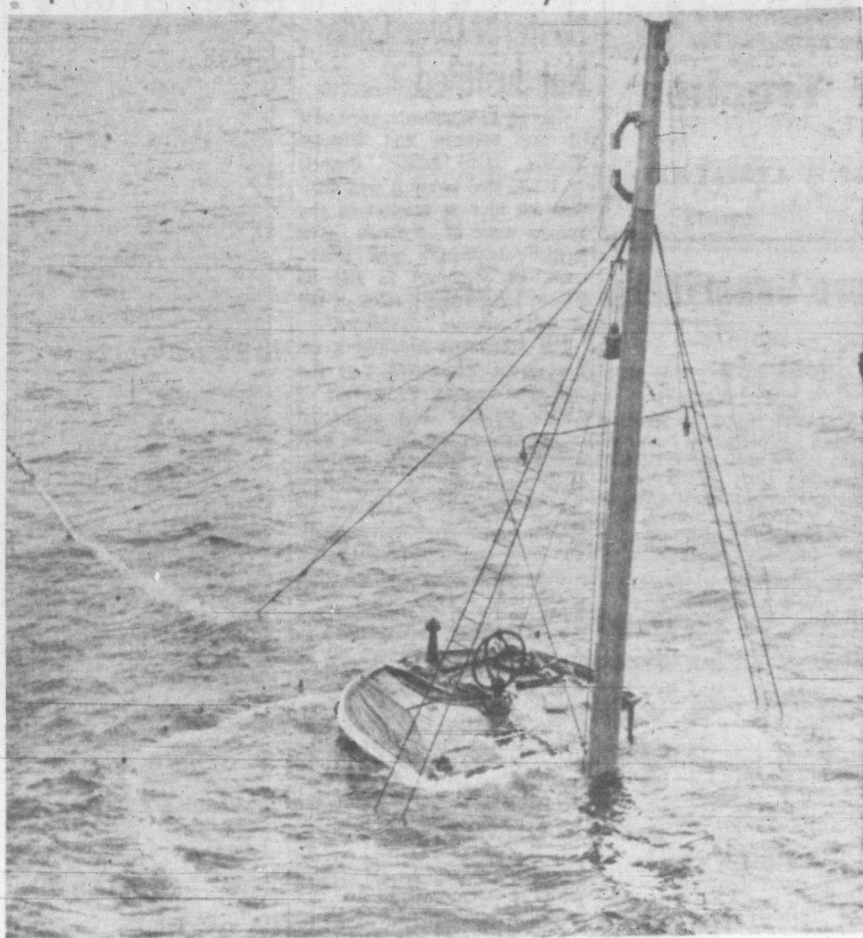

Her father, Samuel Levoff of Toronto, said his daughter had lived in the United States for the last 14 years and had graduated from the University of California.

"Only last year she visited us before leaving for Tokyo," he said. "Before being employed by the U.S. government she was employed in a New York publishing house."

Mr. Levoff came to Canada from Russia 31 years ago.

Storm Hits Shanghai

SHANGHAI (Reuter)—A 12-hour storm struck Shanghai today, flooding the city, capsizing sampans in the Whangpoo River, overturning rickshaws and dislodging all air and shipping services.

Emperor Takes 12 Men To Watery Grave

With her mast, a spar and the top of her wheelhouse showing above water, the ill-fated freighter Emperor lies in Lake Superior where she sank with the loss of 12 lives. The outline of the bridge under water can be seen in this aerial view of the wreck.

In foreground is shown the top of the dangerous Canoe Rocks, which broke the Emperor in two. Mast of the C.S.L. freighter and search ship, the Coastal Queen, appears in the background.

The agreement was reached in accordance with an exchange of letters between Foreign Minister Molotov and State Secretary Marshall which guaranteed fair representation of divergent Korean views on the formation of their government.
